Schirick Grants Request to Dismiss Case Against Gray

Testimony was closed Wednesday afternoon in the $100,000 action being tried in Supreme Court before Justice Harry E. Schirick and this morning summations were made and the case later submitted to the jury after the charge by the court.

Miss Ann C. Peterson of New York, N. Y., brought an action for damages against Harold T. Gray of Warren Point, N. J., with whom she was riding in November, 1946, when the Gray car and that of Charles W. Dyce were in collision near Saugerties. She sought $50,000, naming both drivers as defendants.

At the close of the testimony N. LeVan Flaver, appearing for Gray, moved to dismiss the complaint as against Gray and the grounds no negligence had been proven. Justice Schirick granted the motion and the case goes to the jury only against Dyce as defendant.

The second action was brought by Gray against Dyce and he too sought $50,000 damages for injuries suffered and for property damages. Gray contended his car was struck and the injuries suffered when the Dyce car came over to the west side of the highway and struck the Gray car which was proceeding south. Dyce defended the action on the grounds there was no negligence on his part and that the accident was "unavoidable" when a part of his car broke causing him to lose control. He contended he had kept the car in good mechanical condition and the breaking was not due to any negligence of his.

Arthur B. Ewig of Canastota appeared for Miss Peterson and the defendant Dyce was represented by James E. Carroll.

Next on the day calendar, marked as ready is No. 231, James Tompkins against James Evans, an action for personal injuries and property damages, which will be moved on Monday. Roy L. Featherstone is attorney for plaintiff.

General Fears U.S. Will Pay in Blood if We Fail to Act

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer today proposed military aid for China. "We are going to pay in blood if proper steps are not taken by America to stop the spread of Communism," Wedemeyer told the House Foreign Affairs Committee. "I don't think dollars alone will stop the spread of Communism anywhere," the one-time chief of staff to Generalissimo Chiang-Kai-Shek continued. The administration has proposed $370,000,000 aid to China without military help.

He said that economic aid abroad should be backed up with military support. But, Wedemeyer made plain he is talking about military aid and not military participation.

He said military aid means sending competent officers to advise in the use of weapons where a country has been given economic aid.

"I don't believe military participation is necessary at this time," he added at the committee hearing on the China aid measure. Wedemeyer said Communism "is out to destroy everything we hold dear."

"I believe we should give military aid to all countries and all peoples whose policies and economic structures are compatible with our own and who are striving against totalitarian doctrines."

He acknowledged that he and Secretary of State Marshall have "different differences" about military aid to China. Wedemeyer said $200,000,000 "would have helped China immeasurably" two years ago. "But today," he added, "I don't think I would recommend $500,000,000 in aid to China unless there were military aid to protect that $500,000,000."

"This vast movement that has been so successful in Czechoslovakia, and probably in Finland, is sweeping down from the north. If we in America intend to put a stop to it, we can't do it by purely economic aid."

"The committee asked the general's views because of his long experience in China. During the war he commanded the China theatre for a time and was chief of staff to Generalissimo Chiang-Kai-Shek."

Dewey Blames Trumanites As Threatening Economy

Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey said today the "quarrelling" Truman administration threatens the nation with "ruinous inflation" by "profligate waste" of public funds.

He added that the government's "conduct of both our domestic and foreign affairs has been so weak and incompetent that it has failed in both fields."

"We are together in a good cause," the governor told the 27 Republicans who filed petitions yesterday for the Wisconsin presidential primary April 6 as a full slate of Dewey pledged delegates to the G.O.P. national convention.

Union of Europe Talks Are Begun; Press Is Excluded

Five Nations Meet on Plan to Halt Red Tide; Spaak Opens Conference

Brussels, Belgium, March 4 (AP)—Five nations commenced talks today on a suggested western European union to stem Communist expansion.

Representatives of Great Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg met at the Foreign Affairs Ministry at 10:05 a. m. (5:05 a. m., E.S.T.). The deliberations were closed to the press.

Paul-Henri Spaak, Belgian premier and foreign minister, opened the conference formally. He welcomed the delegates to Brussels and said he hoped their discussions would result in the successful conclusion of a five-power agreement.

They were called to study the idea of a treaty and alliance to stop the spread of Communist control, newly installed in Czechoslovakia and feared in Finland.

The delegates were reported to have agreed to proceed with the meeting despite the absence of Gladwyn Jebb, second British delegate. The others all had arrived. Jebb, a deputy to the British Foreign Secretary, was delayed in London by bad weather.

After the formal opening by Spaak, the conference was presided over by Bernard van Langenhove, permanent Belgian delegate to the United Nations.

"The benelux countries submitted a draft agreement at the first session."

"The draft was studied and revealed great similarity of views on the principles discussed by the five powers," a communiqué said.

"The five-power talks were postponed until Friday afternoon to make it possible for the French and British delegates to make a further study of the Benelux proposals."

The brief meeting was held around a green-covered table in the Salon Vert (Green Hall) at the Foreign Affairs Ministry.

Britain called the conference in line with Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's proposal for "consolidation of western Europe," made in the House of Commons January 22.

France joined her in inviting the low countries to treaty talks. U. S. Under Secretary of State Robert A. Lovett, meanwhile, told Continued on Page Twenty-five born by bitterness and quarrelling," he said. "It is profligate waste of the money if it is wrung from our people by taxes, threats to bring us to ruinous inflation."

Dewey contended that "our task as Republicans is to restore integrity, competence and purpose to the national government."

"Only in this way," he said, "can we build a stable industry and agriculture, maintain high standards for labor, develop a consistent and strong foreign policy and win a lasting peace."

Dewey said he was "sure" that among Republicans "there will be a heartfelt unity and devotion to the great tasks to which our party will be called in November. These high purposes will require the best efforts of all Americans, working together for the good of all."

Dixie Gets Setback by Virginians

Legislators Kill Bill to Ban President's Name Upon Ballot; Have Weapon

Curley Gives View

Three New Englanders Suggest MacArthur as Candidate

(By The Associated Press)

Rebelling Dixie Democrats received a setback in their drive to keep President Truman's name off southern ballots. But from the north came fresh support for a change in party standard bearers.

Virginia legislators yesterday threw out a bill to bar Mr. Truman's name from the ballot. But they kept another weapon to use against him.

At the same time, three New England Democrats, including Boston's long time Mayor James M. Curley—urged Gen. Douglas MacArthur as their party's presidential candidate.

Curley, who last Thanksgiving was granted a presidential pardon after serving five months of a 6 to 18 months mail fraud sentence, declared the nation is demanding that Mr. Truman stay out of the race.

He joined former Governors Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts and Francis P. Murphy of New Hampshire in proposing the supreme allied commander of Japan as the Democratic nominee.

Ely supported the late Alfred E. Smith in his break with President Franklin D. Roosevelt and backed James A. Farley against Roosevelt at the 1940 Democratic convention.

Murphy was a Republican governor but later was Democratic National Committeeman from New Hampshire.

Curley was asked whether he plans to start a move at the Philadelphia convention to substitute MacArthur for Truman.

"I don't think it will be necessary," he replied to a reporter. "The country is doing it now."

MacArthur has been mentioned most frequently as a possible G.O.P. nominee.

In that connection, a campaign committee was organized in New York yesterday "to boom MacArthur to the end that the people demand he be nominated for President."

Warren Wright of Chicago, acting leader of the group, said no pledged delegates will be sought. Instead, he added, the committee will rely on a nation-wide poll three weeks before the G.O.P. convention to convince party leaders that MacArthur is the people's choice.

In Virginia, Gov. William M. Tucker approved a complete substitute for his "anti-Truman" election law bill.

The revised measure would permit the President's name to appear on the state's ballot, but would require presidential electors to vote as the Virginia party convention orders.

That would be for someone other than Mr. Truman, if he is his party's nominee and if southern Democratic leaders remain up in arms over his civil rights program.

Pennsylvania Goes To Pacific Grave

Damaged at Okinawa, Ship Survived Two A-Bomb Blasts

Pearl Harbor, March 4 (AP)—The battleship Pennsylvania, survivor of the Pearl Harbor debacle and two atomic blasts, was scuttled near Kwajalein Feb. 10, the navy announced today.

"Damage received at Okinawa was mainly responsible for the Pennsylvania's unseaworthiness and not damage inflicted during the atomic tests" at Bikini in July, 1946, the navy said.

"Two other warships, termed victims of 'progressive deterioration,' also were scuttled last month. They were the destroyer Trippe, sunk Feb. 3, and the attack transport Banner, sunk Feb. 3.

The navy said the Pennsylvania could not have remained afloat much longer in Kwajalein lagoon. She was towed there after the Bikini atom tests. She was considered a possible menace to shipping if she sank in the lagoon, as did the Prinz Eugen. Both were guinea pigs of the Bikini tests.

The "Mighty F," as the navy calls her, recovered from the Pearl Harbor attack to strike at the Japanese 13 times with 11,000,000 pounds of steel—more than was fired by any other battleship in history.

Off Okinawa, 59 hours before the war ended, an aerial torpedo ripped the Pennsylvania's stern and killed 20 men.

She was commissioned March 16, 1915. She had a displacement of 33,000 tons and was 608 feet in length with a beam of 106 feet, three inches. She carried 12 Continued on Page Twenty-one

Open Exam Will Be Held For Water Works Top Job

An open competitive examination for the position of water works superintendent of this city will be held on March 22, according to a bulletin from the Municipal Civil Service Commission now available at the Water Department office in the city hall.

Applications for the examination must be filed on or before Monday, March 8. All legal residents of Ulster county meeting the minimum qualifications are eligible.

The job of superintendent of water works is now being held by John J. Byrne, who was appointed to that position during World War 2, during which time no permanent appointments were made. Minimum qualifications for the position require that candidates be licensed to practice as a professional engineer in New York state and possess a Grade 1 public water treatment and purification plant operator's certificate issued by the state department of health. In addition, they must have either (a) five years of professional engineering experience in a responsible capacity in the construction, maintenance or operation of a municipal water filtration plant and water distribution system, and graduation from a recognized college or university with a bachelor's degree in civil or sanitary engineering; or (b) a satisfactory equivalent combination of the foregoing training and experience.

The duties of the water works superintendent are to have, under general supervision, responsible charge of the municipal water supply system and to do related work as required.

Says Issue Beyond One Of Politics

Street Construction Held Back, City Won't Get New Machines Unless $200,000 Raised

Aldermen Failed

Mayor Says Democrats Are Using Obstruction Tactics

Commenting on the stubborn attitude of Democrats in the Common Council Tuesday relative to a $200,000 bond issue for improvement of the city, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk sees their disapproval of the proposition as a great inconvenience and brake on the wheels of progress.

The mayor in a statement issued from his bedside during his period of convalescence from a heavy chest cold, regards the Democratic aldermen's opposition to his proposed bond issue as a stand to embarrass his administration, but which will retard projects that would be a great benefit to the taxpayers.

Here is how the $200,000 bond issue will be spent, according to Mayor Newkirk's plan: Street construction in 1948—$100,000.

New equipment for the Board of Public Works—$71,000. Construction of diversion chambers and other work to make the city's main disposal plant on East Strand operate more efficiently—$27,000.

Mayor Newkirk scored the opposition aldermen for their stand, pointing out that during the recent Democratic administration Republican members of the Common Council voted for bond issues making possible the purchase of construction equipment, and stressed that unless they had in 1947 the city would not have been able to do any street work or complete the city's main disposal plant in the uptown business district.

The mayor's statement, in part rapping the position of the Democratic aldermen, a stand he considers will be frowned on by progressive citizens, especially those who motor over Kingston streets and want them in good condition, follows:

"The action of the Democratic members of the Common Council in refusing to approve the proposed bond issue and in voting against the issuance of any bonds at the meeting of the Common Council on Tuesday evening has very serious implications affecting the welfare of our city."

Month to Make Survey

During the month of February there were several sessions of the Common Council so that the members of that body could study the request. During the month too, some of the aldermen, Republicans and Democrats, consulted with Superintendent of the Board of Public Works Ernest A. Steuding and were shown and examined the old equipment that needs replacement. In other words, an entire month of study has been or could have been devoted to the problem.

Under our charter it is necessary for a two-thirds vote of the members of the council to approve a bond issue. During the Edelman administration it was necessary for Republican members of the Common Council to vote in favor of the issuance of bonds they could be issued. During those years the Republican members of the Common Council did not use their power to prevent the then city administration from securing bond money for street equipment and the purchase of machinery. Under the present attitude of the Democratic party it would be impossible for us to do any work on street construction this year or to purchase any machinery replacement whatsoever.

Democrats Against Street Work

During the year 1947 the Republican party had not gone along with bond issues the city would not have been able to do any street construction and the widening of North Front street would not have been accomplished. In 1947 also the city purchased new equipment through bond money approved by the Republican aldermen, concededly, the amount approved was less than the amount originally sought.

When the Republican party was the minority party, it did not use Continued on Page Six

Democrats Accuse Agriculture Group Of Doing Nothing

Deliberate Delay of Probe as Placating Move Is Charge of Minority

Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—The temporary state commission on agriculture was accused today by its Democratic members of deliberately delaying an investigation of New York's milk industry in order to placate "monopolistic interests."

The charge was made in a minority report signed by Senator Samuel L. Greenberg of Brooklyn and Assemblyman James G. Lyons of Monticello, released simultaneously with the commission's annual report, signed by the Republican majority.

The majority report announced that "four brand lines of study in the statewide investigation of the milk price spread" were being pursued. Greenberg and Lyons said that "we do not propose to become parties to this report, for to our own personal knowledge it was not made in good faith, nor does it represent the actual results of this commission during the past year."

The Democratic legislators recalled that the commission was created in 1945 to inquire into all phases of agriculture in the state, including the "spread" between the price of milk paid by consumers and the price the farmers receive for milk.

"Unfortunately the work of the commission has resulted in the solution of no single problem facing either producer or consumer," Greenberg and Lyons said, "but has resolved itself into a deliberate attempt to belaud and befuddle the real issue."

"Unfortunately the commission has deliberately and successfully, to this point, carried out a delaying and stalling action in its efforts to placate certain interests in the producing industry and other monopolistic interests in marketing and distribution of agricultural products."

'Market Monopoly'

In the past year, the Democrats said, "there was a market monopoly in New York city wherein the products of this state were given a black eye that has not yet cleared up and the consumers were robbed of thousands of dollars in the rigging of the butter market."

The Democrats obviously referred to the admitted purchases by the Dairyman's League of a large amount of butter to keep the price of butter from falling.

"While this self-confessed manipulation took place," Greenberg and Lyons said, "the commission supposedly established to investigate just such affairs, sat idly by."

The Democrats concluded the commission in the last year "has accomplished absolutely nothing."

The majority report of the commission, headed by Republican Senator Austin W. Erwin of Genesee, said the four-way probe of the milk price spread was aimed at a "determination of the facts."

Erwin said the commission was seeking to learn:

What portion of the margin between the producer's and consumer's price is taken by country hauling and handling, country processing, transport and handling between country and city plants, city hauling in bulk, city processing and bottling and city distribution through routes, stores and other outlets.

He said a study would be made of each step in the distribution process to discover essential facts regarding costs.

Analysis will be made also to determine whether savings can be effected and in what manner.

Finally, a comparative study will be made among milk handlers to find the factors responsible for efficient milk handling, Erwin said.

The study of the spread is being conducted under the direction of Ernest C. Young, professor of agricultural economics at Purdue University, who took over the assignment on a permanent basis February 1.

The majority report contains several recommendations dealing with other phases of New York state agriculture.

The commission announced it had established a program for expansion and improvement of the state's agricultural statistics and market news services for farmers.

Other subjects covered by the report include "progress" on the commission's studies toward revision of state laws under which cooperatives operate in New York, and the modernizing of laws dealing with drainage of farm lands.

Meat Packers Call Strike for March 16

Chicago, March 4 (AP)—A strike of 100,000 C.I.O. meat packing plant workers throughout the nation has been called for March 16.

The C.I.O. United Packinghouse Workers union yesterday called the strike against Armour and Company, Cudahy Packing Company, Swift and Company, Wilson and Company, John Morrell and Company, Hy-Grade Food Products Corporation and other independent companies.

Ralph Heisler, union president, said the strike was called to enforce demands for a 29 cent hourly wage boost. Swift and Company said it had offered a nine cent hourly raise. Industry sources said the strike would cut the nation's meat supply about in half, with the east feeling the shortage more than other sections.

was trying to penetrate through the hills to lay mines on the highway when it encountered Arab defenders. A two-hour gunfight resulted. There was no estimate of Arab casualties.

Arabs said the Jewish patrol came from Kalandiya settlement, which adjoins the airport where the advance party of the United Nations Commission charged with carrying out Holy Land partition landed yesterday.

The Ramallah road is the only outlet to the north and west of Jerusalem which Arabs have used since the partition vote last November.

British heavy guns roared out in the Holy Land during the night under Britain's new policy of firing impartially on Jewish or Arab aggressors.

Judge Faces Two Clashing Views in I.T.U. Injunction

Indianapolis, March 4 (AP)—A federal judge who must decide whether to issue a nation-wide injunction against the International Typographical Union had before him today two clashing views as to the union's recent conduct.

1. The government view: The union has violated the Taft-Hartley act by setting illegal policies which its locals had to follow; has caused "chaotic conditions" in the newspaper industry's labor relations; is forcing publishers to co-operate through fear of strikes and should be ordered to change.

2. The union view: The nation's oldest union, often admired as a "model," is only seeking various ways of legally preserving its fundamental principles; its actions were lawful, even if they weren't nobody was hurt; a few peaceful strikes have occurred; publishers were to blame for them. Judge Luther M. Swygert has the job of deciding. It is a pioneering job. Novel legal questions pop out at almost every hour. This is one of the first important court cases under the Taft-Hartley Act. The injunction is sought by the office of Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board. Denham, represented here by Winthrop Johns, has previously asked the five-man N.L.R.B. to find the union guilty of insisting that publishers hire only union members as printers, and other alleged violations of the act. He wants an injunction to halt the alleged illegal practices until the board makes a verdict.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MARCH 4, 1948

STATEHOOD FOR ALASKA

A subcommittee of the House of Representatives has recommended statehood for Alaska. This first step, small though it may seem, brings Alaska nearer to statehood than it ever has been before. If the full Public Lands Committee should now approve the proposal, the House would be expected to pass it without much opposition. The Senate, however, would be more cautious and probably would not complete committee studies on the matter before the present session ends.

The House group was told that the people of Alaska favor the idea of becoming a state about two to one. Among arguments for the proposal are that Alaska is a strategic part of the United States and therefore should have a voice in Congress and in the election of the president. As a territory, Alaska elects its own legislature but is under a governor appointed by the president and is subject to the whim of Congress.

There are arguments against statehood, also. The people of Alaska pay the same federal taxes as residents of the United States proper, but they pay no territorial taxes. The costs of territorial government are borne by the United States. As a state Alaska would have to pay more of its own way. Opponents say the population is still too small and hence the individual burden would be too great. They also point out that Alaska is far removed from the rest of the nation and does not have the same interests and problems.

Hawaii, which already has House approval of statehood, is more likely to become the first non-contiguous state. But Alaska would have other distinctions. Being twice the size of Texas, it would be the largest state. Having a population of only 90,000 including Eskimos and Indians, 20,000 less than the population of Nevada, it would be the lowest ranking in population.

MEDITERRANEAN AID

It may be by coincidence that Secretary of State Marshall's request for further military aid for Greece and Turkey follows on the heels of the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia. Whether by chance or by design, the timing is apt.

The secretary wants another 275 millions for the two nations, for purely military assistance. Last year an appropriation of 400 millions was divided between military and economic aid. He says the purpose is twofold—to continue to strengthen the two countries so that they will be able to stand alone, and to notify the world that the United States will not leave them to their fate while outside help is needed. This notice would have implications both for expanding Russia and for the nations of western Europe awaiting Marshall Plan Aid.

Turkey and Greece are the last buffer for the Western Powers between Russia and the oil-rich Middle East. Should they fall into the Soviet sphere, Russia would stand on the shores of the Mediterranean and the borders of Iraq and Syria.

Secretary Marshall's premise that with American aid the two countries will become able to defend themselves is a pivotal point in debating the wisdom of extending further assistance. The investment is sound only if his premise is correct. If he is in error, the effort to maintain the buffer in the Mediterranean would become a permanent economic drain or would have to be abandoned.

THE NEW JERSEY FIGHT

A liberal movement is stirring among New Jersey Republicans. A group backed by Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll is challenging the re-election of Senator Albert W. Hawkes, a former director of the National Association of Manufacturers and a constant reflector of that body's viewpoint. The challenge is frankly on the ground that Senator Hawkes is so conservative that he could not possibly be re-elected.

The anti-Hawkes forces have a strong line-up. Their candidate, State Treasurer Robert C. Hendrickson, has the support of the state organization and of leaders in 17 out of New Jersey's 21 counties. Hendrick-

THE VANDENBERG BILL

Contradictions appear in the Vandenberg Bill on the Marshall Plan which need to be studied with care. In a statement on his bill, Senator Vandenberg gave the impression that the American people would be able to "take a look" at the entire matter at the end of the first year (June 30, 1949). It does not seem, from the bill, that this means very much. In fact, the bill is definitely for four years and the amount is definitely $17,000,000,000. Any other statement is literally untrue. I do not say that Senator Vandenberg is untruthful; I do say that the impression is likely to be distorted.

Section 21 (a) provides that the plan terminates after June 30, 1952, unless otherwise provided by joint resolution of the Senate. It is to be June 30, 1949? Should the Vandenberg Bill be passed, it will bind this country to a four-year plan at the cost of $17,000,000,000. That should be repeated every time the phrase "Marshall Plan" is mentioned. That should be put at the top of the Vandenberg Bill, so that there can be no mistake about it. It will have neither the United States nor the beneficiaries of the gifts we give them, if there is any mistake.

Section 14 (c) provides "There are hereby authorized to be appropriated to the President, from time to time through June 30, 1952 . . . such sums as may be necessary to carry out the provisions and accomplish the purposes of this act." Provided, however, That for carrying out the provisions of this act for the period of one year following the date of enactment of this Act, there are hereby . . . appropriated not to exceed $5,300,000,000.

What other purpose can the smaller figure have than to give the impression that that is all there is to it? Yet, twice, in Section 11 (paragraph 4) and in Section 21 (paragraph a), the extension of this program to 1952 is specifically mentioned. There can be no question that a definite moral obligation is being undertaken on the basis of the Report of the Committee on European Cooperation (The Bevin Report). This provides a four-year plan, ending in 1952. There is never at any point any question about that. Nowhere does the Bevin Report propose a one-year plan. There is no calculation for a contribution on our part of $5,300,000,000. The amount is $17,000,000,000 and to it must be added the full amount of aid to Greece, Turkey and China.

From all this, these facts are clear:

1. No Congress can commit a succeeding Congress to an appropriation; therefore, an appropriation is being set for one year.
2. However, the Vandenberg Bill stipulates a moral obligation to complete a contract in four years, ending 1952, amounting to $17,000,000,000.
3. This does not include amounts to be spent on Greece, Turkey and China.
4. Although Congress does not have to accept the full responsibility of a four-year program amounting to $17,000,000,000 and no one can force the United States to pay over this amount, it is nevertheless true that the American people are not likely to default on a moral obligation inherent in a bill passed by Congress and signed by the President.

It is therefore clear that the Vandenberg Bill commits this country to $17,000,000,000 and to a four-year program until 1952.

Another point to be noted in the Vandenberg Bill is that whereas the general assumption seems to be that the gifts under ERP are to be administered by an agency of the Department of State, the bill, the Administrator's functions are limited and his agents abroad are placed under the "Chief of United States Diplomatic Missions," which means that they are directly subject to the Secretary of State. If that is the intention, why not do it that way?

What could be the object of verbal camouflage except to confuse the people, meeting public opinion by such a superfluity of language as was exhibited in Senator Austin's masterpiece of double-talk in his address on the Palestinian question. Such nonsense is to be expected from the current management of the State Department, but not from Senator Vandenberg.

This Bill gives the impression of being intellectually fraudulent and requires clarification and simplification to clean it up.

That Body of Yours

THE NEED FOR A FAMILY DOCTOR

Now that there is a general movement all over the world to make it possible for every man, woman and child to receive medical care with some help from the governments, the question of the standing of specialists and of general practitioners in regard to hours of work, amount of fees and the distribution of physicians in cities, towns, villages, and rural communities, is all being discussed by the various governments and by physicians themselves.

A brilliant busy children's specialist recently stated that if the government took him on its pay roll, he would do a 40-hour-a-week job like others, and no more. Also he would do office work only, no visiting. Other specialists may have the same thought.

However, what most of us want to know is what about the general practitioner, the first physician to see the patient despite any special need demanded by his symptoms? It is the family doctor or general physician who counts for most with the majority of people. What will governments do to him and to the carrying out of his all-round work? He is a greatly "needed" man.

In "Rocky Mountain Medical Journal," Dr. Lewis J. Morrison states that the most urgent need of our civilization is a family doctor who can see the human organism as a composite or complete whole and deal with it physically and psychologically, according to its individual needs.

The rapid development of advanced scientific methods of diagnosis and treatment and the different ailments has pushed aside the time-honored relationship between patient and doctor. "Humanity, though blessed with the gift of science, never has been so in need of human understanding endowed with the primal sympathy of man for man."

Despite the fact that about 80 per cent of the people who call for a doctor will recover without his aid, they would have a poor time from the mental and emotional standpoint without the advice of a wise doctor.

"When illness strikes it is of paramount importance to know how to stay the storm, to soothe the soul, to quiet the heart and restore mental and emotional balance. This is always the general practitioner's privilege, rarely the specialists'."

son has also just received the endorsement of Hawkes' colleague, Senator H. Alexander Smith, who in the Senate has been voting steadily on the other side of the fence.

The Atlantic seaboard used to be thought the stronghold of conservatism. Senators Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire and George D. Aiken of Vermont, to say nothing of Senators Raymond E. Baldwin of Connecticut and Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, prove that this is not necessarily true. The New England leaven appears to be working in New Jersey, too.

"Yoo-Hoo! Lookit What I Did for You!"

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Donald Day, who lived in Europe many years after the first World War, has been detained by the Americans in Germany where he was picked up after the collapse in 1945. He seems to have been suspected of collaboration on the ground that he didn't come home when he could have. Another exile in a similar fix, Robert Best, has been brought back and accused of treason, which turns out to be a charge more easily made than proved.

I could tell Best's jury that I believed he was spying on the American and British correspondents in Vienna, where he lived, a disreputable gigolo, and in the light of later developments, that he probably was informing the Austrian Nazis on his colleagues who spoke freely on the assumption that their little conversations were a family affair. The other Americans who later were interned with him in Germany until the exchange could be arranged and saw him jump ship in Lisbon to return to Germany may have some evidence.

We haven't had much luck with our treason charges and I still have to dissent from the life sentence passed on Douglas Chandler, a moderately wealthy Baltimore fellow, who gladly admitted that he broadcast propaganda from Germany which was pro-Nazi to the extent that it was anti-Communist. Hatred of Communism and of the Russian monster of Hitler, the Germans and the similarly atrocious Nazi philosophy, seems to be the story of most of our defendants.

Day became a specialist in Finnish and other Baltic affairs and in the Russian dictatorship as seen from a close observation post as a correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. A colleague who once told him out of a French clerk says he is a nut. You may judge in a minute whether he speaks sense or minute in mind that many of us thought Henry Ford was crazy until he finally despaired of arousing any sense in the human race on the subject of war.

Many elders of American horse-racing, prize fighting and all such enduring depravity will recognize Day's dad, John I. Day, known everywhere as John One, a great character who cheated death every second-for 25 years or more and never gave it a thought. John One had a terrible heart so he put himself on a rigid regimen of cigarettes, whiskey, late hours and the exhausting leg-work of bustling around the barns and paddocks through the crowds and into the ladders to the officials' stands at horse yards all over the country. Thus he prolonged his life to a nice old age.

Another child of his, Dorothy, went haywire over Bolshevism and lived her life in her own way in the manner of Greenwich Village and other slums of the mind until she embraced Catholicism. Since then she has been wilder than ever but with fury against suffering, inhumanity, injustice and Communism, too.

So they are not a conservative family and if Donald Day does get a necktie and pour ice-water over himself, as a friend who saw him overseas allows he does, may be he just likes to do that. He doesn't pour ice-water on you, does he? Do we confine people for playing golf? I am skeptical of such business.

Every Sunday, the poet, who has been raised exultantly by many of our greatest writers and students of literature, was charged with treason in Rome, brought home and locked up for crazy in Washington, D. C., but it happens that Pound was mixed up in the Reich movement in New York along with Henry Wallace. Had they tried him for treason, had he would have had the right to call Wallace as a witness and make him admit his ridiculous and evil implication in this mess. It was a great convenience to Wallace to find Pound crazy and lock him up.

Here is, word from Don Day at Kyrester 9, Bud Tule, Olin, Germany:

"Although I was screened for a visa two months ago I have heard nothing about returning home. I have a hunch they will let me remain here until someone recalls that I was a minor in reporting the true nature of Hitlerism. (That is true, he was, W.P.) and that my predicament is due to the fact that I have always been anti-Nazi. It sure is funny that Bullitt, Lyons, Chamberlain and Louis Fischer, who for years ate cucumbers in Moscow and made easy money writing Soviet publicity and denouncing my reports from there, are all now making equally big money writing against Bolshevism while fate has placed me on the shelf. But I am content to wait. I have sent home manuscript of a book. We will see what will happen. Among our Christmas mail was a letter from Demaree Bess (Saturday Evening Post fellow described by Joe Davies in his ludicrous "Mission to Moscow" as clear-headed and a natural conservative, W.P.) which I might use for a testimonial. He wrote that on visits to our home in Riga and Helsinki just before and during the war he did not find that I had any Nazi or German sympathies, that we scarcely mentioned Germany but that we did talk about Russia. And, he writes, unfortunately, much of what I predicted has come true.

"Here the battle of the epoch is beginning between the American dollar and Communist propaganda. I think we have about a 50-50 chance. The weakest point of the Marshall plan is the emphasized policy of non-interference with the internal affairs of the nations we are trying to help. In 1926 we loaned Poland $25,000,000 and appointed Charles Dowie financial dictator in Warsaw. He put Poland on her feet. For us to think the corrupt and grafting politicians of France, Italy and Austria are any better than the corrupt and grafting Poles (or Roosevelt or Fenderson or Curleys, eh? W.P.) is a mistake which may prove our undoing.

"In Germany our policy has changed very radically in the last year. It is less a New York policy and more an American one. Don hoped to return to Finland for his furniture 'after the June elections,' but the Russians knocked that idea on the head while the letter was on the way. It was terrible to see the destruction of the Baltic states (all three absorbed by Russia just as Hitler sucked in Austria, W.P.) and the fate of our friends of 20 years. (Mrs. Day is a White Russian, W.P.) If the Finns go under I don't think there's much hope. President Risto Rytty was my friend for years and is certainly the finest gentleman I met in Europe. He is serving ten years imposed by the Communists. Morally and spiritually, Finland is worth all the rest of Europe."

Fifteen Years After Roosevelt Took Presidency Feelings About Him Are Strong in Praise, Denunciation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 4—Fifteen years have passed since the birth of the New Deal—the day when Franklin Roosevelt took the inaugural oath and ushered in an era of political and economic revolution.

Some of the reforms he advocated were long overdue. Some had been held back by a belief that the Constitution had to be amended to grant more power to a centralized, federal government. With true revolutionary technique, Mr. Roosevelt challenged the Supreme Court as his obstacle, later packed it with judges of his own choosing, and declared that "judicial interpretation" was necessary because the amending process prescribed in the Constitution itself was clumsy and to his mind unworkable.

To many Americans, Mr. Roosevelt takes his place in history as a great president, because they think of him as a liberal and the friend of "the underprivileged" or a great leader in war. To other Americans, Mr. Roosevelt was just a consummate politician who used public office and power to advance his own ambitions.

By a curious coincidence, there was released this week a book entitled "Jim Farley's Story—the Roosevelt Years." It is a devastating book. It reveals Mr. Roosevelt as a self-seeking politician, of grudges and economic enclaves, unfaithful to his friends who served him, and a master of political chicanery.

Few persons who attacked the Roosevelt regime from an opposite political standpoint ever wrote more blistering attacks on the President than has Jim Farley, the man who managed two national campaigns for Mr. Roosevelt and presided over the Democratic National Committee as its chairman. There are passages which indicate that Mr. Farley did not have much respect for Mr. Roosevelt's veracity. Thus, the Farley story tells of an incident at the Democratic National Convention at Chicago in July 1940. It reads:

"About twenty minutes after eight o'clock, Mrs. Duffy came to the stadium. Mrs. Duffy came in with the news the White House was on the line.

"Jim, I've been trying to get you all afternoon," the President began heartily, "and I haven't been able to catch up with you. What are you up to out there?"

"As he laughed, I smiled. I had been in the office all afternoon. As a matter of fact, if I had been out and word had come through that the President wanted me, everyone around me would have kept after me until I was located. Just for the record, I made a check later and found that there was no White House call during the afternoon."

Mr. Farley tells of meeting the then Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins earlier in the day and finding her surprised that, although the convention had been in session for several days, Mr. Roosevelt had not communicated with the Democratic chairman. It is inferred in the book that Miss Perkins prodded Mr. Roosevelt into making the telephone call.

There are other incidents such as the strange manner in which Senator Barkley of Kentucky was elected by a margin of one vote to the Senate leader in opposition to the late Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi. Mr. Farley relates how Mr. Roosevelt promised to keep hands-off and then, behind the scenes, got Boss Kelly of Chicago to swing the vote of Senator Dietrich of Illinois to Barkley.

It is, on the whole, an interesting revelation of American politics. A Republican chairman could probably tell the same story about some other presidents. But the disheartening thing is that the book emphasizes how, among so-called big men, the end justifies the means. They play for large stakes, convince themselves that they are indispensable to the public good, and rationalize what other men would call immoral and deceitful as being in the public interest.

The Farley book may not have been intended as a textbook on sordid politics as it is practiced by both parties in America, but it serves that purpose and demolishes a lot of idols at the same time.

C. R. DOUGLAS

Big moments in the lives of little people are often born of sudden impulse, but the urge to step out of line can seriously darken the future.

Impulsive decisions have marked the beginning of many a success story, and they have done as much for the tragic turn in events in the lives of both the great and obscure among us.

Large cities pulsate with the stuff of which impulses are born in a swirling flow of joy mingling with big and little tragedies.

The nation's big artery, known as the Gay White Way, has its proportionate share of interludes born of impulse, and we saw one last month that is common enough among them.

"You men were hard at the idea of tearing each other to pieces as a pleasure-bound crowd surged in around them with no attempts at intervening. The men fought for half a block pushing through fringes of the milling crowd, but no man near enough to the center of the ring, appeared to be moved by an impulse to stop them."

We were too far from the area of action to see how it all ended, but as the crowd closed in near the subway kiosk at Broadway and 50th street, a newsstand attendant drew some attention when he seized upon the opportunity and changed the chatter of the moment to "Big Ben and fight—read all about it!" That impulse, plus the sense of humor might have paid dividends. At least it was in keeping with the tempo of New York.

More tragically impulsive was the sailor, who, irked by the repetition of a song on the juke box of a New York tavern, shot the girl who was feeding it nickels, and two others who attempted to intervene in her behalf.

The tune, ironically enough, was "Civilization," and the sailor's action seems to have made it an historic failure as a title, if not as a song.

It is one of those "binga, banga, bonga" things which everybody with ears has heard many times these recent months and it is understandable that it could be irksome if repeated without breaks for an hour.

Many of us have fought down a variety of impulses stemming from abuses of the juke box, but our complaints have been largely against some of the authors of the noisier binges.

The tune which figured in this city tragedy, however, is not generally considered among the worst, although it could do things to almost anyone through an overdose of repetition. It must have had some strangely penetrating psychological effect on the sailor

Editor The Freeman:

I note with alarm that Senator Wicks and Assemblyman Wadlin have introduced resolutions in the legislature with the ultimate objective of building a memorial on the summit of Slide Mountain and a highway leading thereto. It seems to me that, as expend-ture of this nature is ill-timed—just when we taxpayers are burdened as never before in the history of the country. A memorial to those who served in World War 2 is most fitting, but would meet approval of us taxpayers if it were something useful.

May I suggest the proposed bridge across the Hudson at Kingston, as such a memorial.

No Date Indicated For Petition in Paternity Suit

Cullman, Ala., March 4 (AP)—A circuit court official said today there was no indication as to when the court will hear a petition to have Gov. James E. Folsom declared the father of a 22-month-old boy.

The petition was filed Tuesday by Christine Putman Johnston, daughter of a Hanceville, Ala., farmer. The attractive 30-year-old divorcee also asked the court to declare the governor her lawful husband.

A court attaché said Folsom had 30 days to file an answer after a summons is served on him. Legal objections to points at law could delay the hearing indefinitely, he added.

Mrs. Johnston, a former Birmingham hotel employee, contended in her petition that she and Folsom "intermarried, by virtue of an acknowledged relationship effective as a common law marriage within the state of Alabama."

She alleged that they lived together as man and wife in Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky and Florida. The petition stated that the child, James Douglas, was born in Nashville, Tenn., April 17, 1946.

Folsom, a Cullman insurance man, at that time was stumping Alabama in his successful campaign for governor.

Mrs. Johnston charged that Folsom "acknowledged repeatedly" their relationship, but later "had a change of heart" following his election.

Folsom, a widower with two small daughters, said in Washington yesterday that politics lay behind the suits. He had gone there to testify at a congressional hearing.

No Money, Lots of Liens

Baltimore, March 4 (AP)—An Internal Revenue agent called on a local business man yesterday and said: "You owe the government $7,000,000. Have you got it?" He told him no, Hyman H. Klein related through his attorney, Joseph H. A. Rogan. A short time later tax liens were notified in Superior Court in the amount of $5,561,201 against Klein for 1944, 1945, and 1946 income taxes; $492,471 against Klein's wife Gertrude for the same years; and $1,040,304 against H. Harvey Company, Ltd., a liquor importing firm of which Klein is president, for excess profit and income taxes for 1945 and 1946.

Vandenberg Will Be On

Lincoln, Neb., March 4 (AP)—The request of Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) that his name be kept off Nebraska's April 13 Republican presidential preferential ballot was disregarded. A bipartisan committee headed by Raymond A. McConnell, Jr., of Lincoln filed the petition for Vandenberg yesterday after an exchange of telegrams between McConnell and Vandenberg.

Squandermania

Taxes for the federal government alone are running about $350 per capita, or $1,500 per family—which is more than the cost of groceries!

While it is true that big business pays more of this than the wage earner, in visible taxes, it is equally true that the consumers, including wage earners, pay the whole bill ultimately, in both visible and invisible taxes.

If both Truman and Republican bigwigs are unable to reduce the government bureaucracy, in this time of apparent prosperity, when industry needs labor, they will be extremely hesitant to cut off the payroll when hard times come.

California Taxpayers' Association members met in an indignant session at Los Angeles last week and fired hot words in the direction of Sacramento and Washington spendthrifts. They demanded that the 15-year spree of squandermania come to a stop before the nation becomes a hopeless squanderland.

If prices are declining, they contended it is all the more reason for cutting the cost of government.

Lenin Warned Us

"The American people's No. 1 problem is rapid and drastic contraction of the federal bureaucracy," said Association President A. C. Hardison.

"Only 15 years ago, federal taxes were so light as to be but little noticed. Today they are around $350 per capita."

"Government should never undertake anything that individuals or voluntary groups can do as well or better. The constant application of this yardstick would safeguard our liberties."

Another association official, sniping at state as well as federal spendthrifts, pointed out that "heavy taxation is important in the Marx plan for socialistic conquest."

This California meeting may prove to be influential all across the country this year, because so many people in so many other states are sniping at government spenders. This is apt to be the turning point for sanity and national salvation or for bankruptcy and eventually a dictatorship of the right or left.

Never was there more urgent need to consider Lenin's classic remark that America could be made to spend itself into Communism—meaning into bankruptcy and chaos, which provides the hunger and mob psychology out of which Communism could rise.

Already it is Communism—the menace of Russian military Communism and the handful of pivotal Marxist minority votes here at home—which shapes our program of international and domestic spending, — spending on huge defense forces and Marshall Plans and left wing bureaucrats.

We Need Leadership

We need a strong leader with a policy of sanity. Americanism—Senator Byrd or John Bricker or Douglas MacArthur. We need a leader who will clean out Reds from dangerous positions and smash the huge interlocking privately supported gestapo and break up the private censorship of speech over the four major radio hookups.

If these things were done—if unity at home were established by a strong leader—we would have far less to fear from Communism. Our Marshall Plans and domestic extravagance would come to a halt. Our bureaucracy would shrink to the yardstick of service.

Auto Workers Are Against Wallace, No Favorite Yet

Chicago, March 4 (AP)—The executive board of the C.I.O. United Auto Workers, rejecting the 1948 presidential candidacy of Henry Wallace, says it will seek formation of a "genuine progressive political party" after the 1948 national elections.

The board at a meeting yesterday approved the action of the national C.I.O. in "rejecting and repudiating" the candidacy of Wallace and his third party. A board spokesman said the union was "not committed to the support of any candidate."

A resolution approved by the board said "it is obvious that formation of this (Wallace) third party is not a move to build a genuine new liberal and progressive party, but rather a Communist party maneuver designed to advance the foreign policy interests of the Soviet Union at the expense of democracy and freedom throughout the world."

A second resolution approved said the formation of a new party would be the union's "official political objective." It was proposed by Walter Reuther, U.A.W. president and director of the union's Political Action Committee.

The resolution said that the new party "shall not serve as the mouth-piece or errand boy for any other political party or movement and it shall oppose all forms of totalitarianism."

"It shall advocate a program of full production and full employment based on democratic controls."

on the people rather than one of exploitation of the people.

Senator Byrd warned ten months ago that we must cut the budget to the bone that year—1947—or take the left-hand road to destruction.

"If we freeze our peacetime annual expenditures at between $35,000,000,000 and $40,000,000,000," he warned, "we are inviting disaster. . . . When a recession comes, demands will be made upon the public treasury to give more and more for different purposes. Not only will we lose the tax revenue that comes from the present inflated national income, but we will have to spend more money."

This warning went unheeded. Congress did "freeze" the expenditure at more than $35,000,000,000 and this year is actually upping that staggering burden by perhaps two or three Marshall Plan billions.

We are indeed inviting disaster. (Copyright 1948 by John F. Dille Co.)

None Is Injured In Accident Near Port Ewen School

Occupants of two autos in a collision near the school in Port Ewen at 8:40 a. m. today escaped uninjured, according to a sheriff's report.

One car, operated by Harry Walter, 38 College avenue, Poughkeepsie, a salesman, was headed toward Kingston, the report said, and the other, driven by Charles DeWitt of 50 West O'Reilly street, this city, was traveling in the opposite direction.

Deputy Sheriff Arthur Smith, who investigated, reported that DeWitt said his auto skidded and was in collision with the front of the Walter car. Both vehicles were damaged considerably.

DeWitt, the report said, was on his way to Poughkeepsie where he is employed. Riding with him were John R. Murphy, 55 Staples street, and W. Cater, 103 Down street.

Changes Position

Newark, N. J., March 4 (AP)—U. S. Senator Albert W. Hawkes, given the brush-off by Republican organization leaders in his quest for renomination, found his own campaign manager in an opposition camp today. Rep. Harry L. Towse, who was directing Hawkes' drive for the G.O.P. nomination against a field of three other candidates, indicated last night he would support Harry C. Harper instead.

Martin Scores Act Of Democrats Over City Bond Issue

Alderman James E. Martin of the Twelfth Ward, Republican floor leader of the Common Council, today scored the Democratic minority of that body for their refusal to vote in favor of the $200,000 bond issue requested by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding of the Board of Public Works.

"The Democratic aldermen are not abiding by the mandate of the people, who turned the city administration over to the Republican party at the last election," Martin charged. "They are continuing to harass the present administration by their policy of non-cooperation," he said.

"They are remiss in their failure to provide a reasonable amount for the replacement of worn-out city equipment, some of which dates back to 1936. The maintenance cost of these vehicles is so high that it is a waste of money not to buy new equipment," Martin said.

The Republican alderman further criticized the minority members for what he termed their "poor attitude shown when they were invited to attend a meeting of the Charter Revision Commission following the council meeting Tuesday night."

He said that only the Democratic aldermen from the Fourth and Tenth Wards (John Buboltz and James J. Carroll) attended the meeting. Those from the Fifth, Sixth, Seventh and Thirteenth Wards were not present, he said, terming this action "a slight to that body of men outstanding in business and professional fields who are giving their time toward the framing of a new charter to replace the outmoded one we now have."

"They are not giving the type of representation to which the people of their wards are entitled," Martin said.

its power to prevent the then Democratic administration from carrying out its mandate from the people by refusing the expenditure of any bond moneys whatsoever.

I have received word that some Democratic aldermen might in the future go along with the bonds for the streets but not for equipment. However, the way matters now stand the Democratic aldermen are on record as against any bonds whatsoever. They did not offer any resolution approving even the bonds for street construction.

Republicans Went Along

So far as the machinery is concerned, if in 1947, after the war years when equipment was not procurable, the Republican party had taken the position that it would not approve of the expenditure of one cent of bond moneys for equipment for the Board of Public Works, the best welfare of the people of our city would have suffered. The snowfall this winter shows how necessary it is for our city to have good up-to-date equipment. Now, we are advised by Superintendent of the Board of Public Works that more equipment needs replacement. He has discussed the matter with all aldermen who desired to be informed and has shown them the equipment that needs replacement. No one says that Mr. Steuding is wrong but the Democratic members arbitrarily take the stand that no machinery shall be bought through bond issues. If a minority party always took this view, no equipment would ever be purchased for the City of Kingston.

In order that the City of Kingston might pursue its street construction program and secure necessary new machinery, I sincerely hope that the Democratic aldermen will reconsider the results of their adamant stand upon the welfare of all of the people of the City of Kingston.

Train Crashes in Belgium

Brussels, Belgium, March 4 (AP)—Belgian railway officials said nine persons were killed and four badly hurt this morning in a train accident at Jambes, in southeastern Belgium. Reports from Jambes said a passenger train and a freight collided in a dense fog in Jambes station, derailling and wrecking a passenger coach.

Wheat Prices Jump

Chicago, March 4 (AP)—Wheat prices jumped on the Board of Trade today. The market was influenced by news the government was reentering the flour market in volume. Prices were up as much as 10 cents, the daily permitted limit advance, at the start. Later, gains ranged from three to five cents a bushel as compared with yesterday's close. Corn and oats were firm. Agriculture Secretary Anderson announced late yesterday that he had asked millers to submit offers to him to sell flour in an amount equal to 9,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Which Way Will the Red Tide Flow Next?

"What next?" is the question that troubles western Europe and the U. S. as repercussions of the Red grab in Czechoslovakia rumble through the continent. Map above rounds up the situation in relation to possible future moves in the Communists' expansion drive.

New Envoy Is Due From Czechoslovakia

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Czechoslovakia's new Communist government already has an envoy on the way to replace the ambassador who quit rather than serve a "police state."

Diplomatic officials said today Irvin Munk was named minister counselor to Washington after last week's Red coup in Prague. Due in New York Monday, he thus was en route when Ambassador Juraj Slavik quit his post yesterday to "fight for Czechoslovak democracy."

Munk is slated to become charge d'affaires. In that capacity he will head the embassy staff which did not immediately follow the ambassador into voluntary exile.

The State Department, meanwhile, is prepared to assure Slavik that he is welcome to remain in the United States. But whether he can look for official support in his announced attempt to rally Czech "patriots" against the new government of Prime Minister Klement Gottwald is something else again.

Undersecretary Robert A. Lovett said the United States is holding further talks with Britain and France, which joined this country in a three-power condemnation of the latest Communist seizure of power in eastern Europe.

Prochazkas Said To Have Left Czech Territory

Prague, March 4 (AP)—The Communist press hinted today former Health Minister Adolf Prochazka, his wife and an anti-Communist student leader have fled Czechoslovakia, but mystery surrounded their whereabouts.

Mlada, 19, the minister's daughter, is under arrest after an unsuccessful attempt to escape from the country.

Mlada Fronta, a Communist newspaper, said the Prochazkas and Student Leader Emil Ranzdorf escaped across the border. It was the first time the Communist press reported that Czechs were fleeing across the frontiers.

Rude Pravo, the official Communist newspaper, reported the Prochazkas "attempted" escape, but gave no details. It is said an official statement would be made in a few days. Other reports, all unconfirmed, said the three were captured or were across the border in the U. S. occupation zone of Germany.

The Ministry of Information announced President Eduard Benes is convalescing at his country home in Sezimovo Usti, southern Bohemia, and will not return to Prague this week, as scheduled.

There was some evidence, meanwhile, that the new government was trying to rein in some of the Communist action committees active in almost every field of Czech life.

Alexej Cepicka, the minister of justice, warned that if the committee went beyond their original instructions to "purge reaction" huge economic losses might result.

He mentioned especially those committees which have been grabbing former German-owned lands in the border areas and parceling them out in small lots.

There have been some private expressions of dismay over the rash with which action committees have tossed out employees in some industries because of their politics.

Newspapermen Out of Jail On Flaws in Commitments

White Plains, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—Two Newburgh newspapermen have been released from custody on habeas corpus writs because of flaws in the papers committing them to jail for refusing to tell a grand jury their confidential sources of information.

State Supreme Court Justice Frank H. Coyne, who sustained the writs last night, made clear he was not posing on the merits of the case of Douglas V. Clarke, 33, and Charles L. Leonard, 27.

One of the reasons cited for the release was that the defendants had not had proper opportunity to prepare a defense.

The question of whether a newspaperman has the right to protect his sources of information did not figure in the ruling.

Coyne ruled, in effect, that the required formalities had not been complied with when the newspapermen were sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $100 each last Friday for contempt of court.

Clarke, news editor of the Newburgh (N. Y.) News, and Leonard, a reporter on the paper, served five days in the Orange county jail at Newburgh.

Makes Freedom Complete
Justice Coyne released them in custody of their lawyer when the habeas corpus proceedings came before him Tuesday. Last night he made their freedom complete. The penalties were imposed by Supreme Court Justice J. Gordon Flannery after the newspapermen refused to disclose to an Orange county grand jury, which was investigating charges of gambling in Newburgh, the source of a lottery ticket reproduced in their newspaper.

The habeas corpus decision was interpreted unofficially as leaving several courses open to Orange County District Attorney Stanley B. Johnston, who moved originally for punishment. He could call the newspapermen before the grand jury again; start new contempt proceedings; or drop the case.

Declines Comment
Johnston declined comment last night on what he planned. A third refusal of a newspaperman to reveal confidential news sources to the Orange county grand jury was disclosed yesterday.

Edward Ellis, a reporter for the New York World-Telegram, said he had "respectfully declined" to tell where he obtained information about alleged vice and gambling in Newburgh.

The basis for questioning Ellis was a story in his newspaper February 12 which called the city "the Barbary coast on the Hudson."

After almost an hour before the jury, Ellis told newsmen he had appeared voluntarily under an agreement between the World-Telegram and the district attorney.

Protection Bills Pending
Bills to grant newspapermen the right to protect the sources of published information are pending in the legislature at Albany.

Justice Coyne's habeas corpus ruling said "in the present proceedings the issue is solely a procedural one with respect to the form of the mandates" committing the two men to jail.

The justice agreed with the contention of Defense Counsel John H. Flanagan that, since the alleged contempt was not committed in the presence of the judge, it therefore was not subject to summary judgment.

Should Have Had Time
The defendants, Judge Coyne ruled, should have been given time to prepare a defense. He said that in summary contempt proceedings the judge is required to have his own knowledge of the facts, and the papers committing a defendant to jail must contain a complete record, without extraneous evidence.

In the Clarke-Leonard case, the justice said, the commitments did not specify the circumstances of the alleged contempt and did not tell how the court had obtained personal knowledge of it.

"Since the validity of the mandates of commitment cannot be altered by amendment or resentence, this court is constrained to hold that the relators are being unlawfully detained, the ruling continued."

Terrarium Is Good Year-Around Hobby

A good hobby serves a double purpose. It gives you personal enjoyment by keeping you busy the year-around and it provides worthwhile achievement at the same time.

You can see where a terrarium is a wonderful hobby, especially for you who are creative and like to watch your handiwork develop into an expression of your talents.

Since a terrarium is actually a miniature greenhouse, you can grow many things in it, from woodland ferns to tropical orchids.

Make your own by using a deep glass dish or fish tank and laying a pane of glass across the top. Fill the bottom with several inches of soil or other mixture and plant the ferns and flowers you have selected.

There's an endless choice of growth—orchids, cacti, evergreens, heliotropes, begonias.

The Kingston Daily Freeman has prepared a booklet on house plants with details about suitable soil, air, heat and other contributing factors.

For building a terrarium as a hobby, for answers to your house-plant problems, see this helpful 40-page booklet.

Missions Group Urges Conciliation In Palestine Case

Buck Hill Falls, Pa., March 4 (AP)—The Foreign Missions Conference, an organization representing 118 Protestant foreign mission boards, was told the General Assembly of the United Nations should re-open the Palestine situation for review.

Such action was advocated yesterday by Dr. Gloria Wyner, executive secretary of the committee of work among the Moslems and the Rev. Garland Evans Hopkins, associate foreign secretary of the Methodist Church.

Dr. Wyner, former missionary to the Moslems in North Africa, urged that the U.N. Security Council issue a cease fire order and submit the controversy to the international court of justice.

"The Palestine situation can only be solved through conciliation or some kind of a compromise agreement," she said, adding, "the U.S. government instead of following a partisan policy should now adopt a bi-partisan one."

The Rev. Mr. Hopkins urged the 300 delegates to the conference to join the committee for justice and peace in the Holy Land. The committee, headed by Kermit Roosevelt, seeks a review of the Palestine controversy by the General Assembly.

Truman Winds Up Vacation to Return To Capital Duties

Key West, Fla., March 4 (AP)—President Truman took his last dips into calm vacation waters today before plunging into international and domestic political problems awaiting him at Washington.

He will meet with his cabinet at 4 p. m. tomorrow at the White House, a couple of hours after his scheduled arrival in Washington.

The presidential plane, "The Sacred Cow," is due to leave the Boca Chica airport eight miles away at 9 a. m. Friday.

The President's weight is down to 173 pounds—three less than when he left Washington Feb. 20 for a visit to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. He was pronounced in excellent physical condition by his physician, Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham.

Dieting, swimming and sunbathing and regular afternoon naps have featured Mr. Truman's visit at the submarine base here.

Oldsmobile Has Finest New Model In Its 50 Years

Oldsmobile, America's oldest motor car manufacturer, today proudly announces its latest model in 50 years of production—the 1948 Series "98" Futuramic Oldsmobile. While the "Futuramic" line embodies the best in design and construction developed by Oldsmobile over five decades, it also points the way toward a new "golden era" in automotive travel, in the opinion of S. E. Skinner, vice-president of General Motors Corporation and general manager of Oldsmobile.

Brand new in styling from bumper to bumper, the Series "98" Futuramic Oldsmobile offers many new noteworthy developments, such as an entirely new body design with graceful streamlining and futuristic lines, increased front and rear vision through curved glass, wider seats, and more luxurious upholstery and interior trim than has ever been available in the Oldsmobile price class before.

Throughout the nation Oldsmobile dealers are displaying this week the new "Futuramic" Series "98" Oldsmobile, as well as the "60" and "70" Oldsmobile, known as the "Dynamic" Series. Production of the full 1948 Oldsmobile line has been underway for several weeks, and retail delivery of the new cars will commence immediately, according to Mr. Skinner.

The "Futuramic" Series "98" Oldsmobile is powered by a 115 h.p. eight-cylinder engine that outperforms any motor previously built on the production line by this Division of General Motors Corporation. Equipped with a newly designed high-compression head, using a ratio of 7 to 1, the engine for the "Futuramic" Series Oldsmobile has been rated by Oldsmobile engineers as the smoothest and most powerful "in-line" engine ever offered Oldsmobile customers.

For buyers in the medium, popular price range, Oldsmobile will produce the "Dynamic" Series "60" and "70" in 1948. Seven body styles, including a convertible and station wagon, are being built in the "Dynamic" Series. The customer has a choice of a six-cylinder 100 h.p. Oldsmobile engine, or an eight-cylinder 110 h.p. engine in this series.

General Motors Hydra-Matic Drive, providing fully automatic shifting in all forward speeds, is available as optional equipment, at extra cost, throughout the 1948 line of Oldsmobile cars.

One of the most important advantages of the new body design of the "Futuramic" Series "98" Oldsmobile is increased all-around vision. The area of the curved windshield on the four-door "Futuramic" Oldsmobile for 1948 is 30 per cent greater than that in the 1947 Series "98" Oldsmobile, while the area of the curved-glass rear window represents a 58 per cent increase.

The side windows have also been noticeably enlarged. Furthermore, a broader, lower hood assures much fuller vision ahead for the driver, as compared with most other competitive makes of cars.

Alecca Grappling Continues in New York

Grappling efforts by the New York police near the barge from which Charles Alecca, 48, of 167 North street, was reported missing, continued throughout yesterday without results, the local man's brother, Deputy Sheriff Anthony Alecca, reported today.

The deputy sheriff corrected early reports that the boat was docked in the vicinity of Varick street, Manhattan. It is at a pier off Varick avenue, Brooklyn, he said.

A suit jacket worn by the barge captain employed by the Hutton Company of this city, was recovered from the river earlier this week, the family reported. A report of a watchman employed at the dock indicated that the local man has been missing since midnight last Thursday.

The deputy sheriff said he had been informed that the police investigation and the grapple efforts will be continued for several days.

Asks Clark's Advice

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Harriman asked Attorney General Clark's advice today on whether he should give a House Committee his files on the loyalty investigation of Dr. Edward U. Condon. Aides said Harriman, just back from a vacation, is going into all phases of the situation raised by the House Un-American Activities Committee's demand for the files. Condon is the Federal Bureau of Standards chief. An Un-American Activities Subcommittee has accused him of associating with "known and unknown" with suspected Russian spies. It also called him "one of the weakest links in our atomic security."

All Teachers Sick

West Newbury, Mass., March 4 (AP)—Pupils in the first 7 years of Central Grammar School, taught jointly by five teachers, danced gleefully home today—all five teachers were sick. And as if this were not enough, the trunk of one of the school buses was found to be sick too. School officials said the illnesses were colds and similar seasonal ailments. To prevent spread of the holiday spirit to the other classes the school superintendent appointed a substitute teacher.

C.I.O. Opposes Move

Washington, March 4 (AP)—On grounds that radio is "big business" and would reflect the views of industry, the C.I.O. today opposed letting radio stations collectivize on the air. Henry C. Fleisher, assistant C.I.O. director of publicity, told the Federal Communications Commission that unions have had "endless trouble" buying radio time for their views. He said that "makes us skeptical of the good intentions of many broadcasters in conjunction with public service programs."

Powder Magazine Explodes

Milan, Italy, March 4 (AP)—A large military powder magazine between Argentea and Induno exploded early today. A number of persons were hospitalized with injuries and there was heavy property damage. The police chief in nearby Varese said rescuers were digging for seven missing persons. He fixed the number of gravely injured at 15—four civilians and 11 military men.

$100,000 Action

Continued from Page One and Ainsworth & Sullivan, attorneys of record for defendant. There will be a regular special term of Supreme Court on Friday and consequently there will be an adjournment of the trial until Monday.

'Income Tax Expert' Uses Disappearing Ink

Newark, N. J., March 4 (AP)—The Internal Revenue Office said today it was investigating a part-time "income tax expert" who got big refunds for his clients but kept his own signature off their falsified reports by attesting to them with disappearing ink.

Revenue officials said the case was one of eight seasonal "experts" who have set up shop in assorted stores and offices and whose returns are being grabbed because of a steady stream of large refunds listed for their clients.

The man who used the disappearing ink was described by revenue agents as a barber who was filling out tax forms in between hair cuts. His signature would disappear from the forms shortly after he prepared them, revenue officials said, but chemical treatment of the paper brought out the name and led investigating agents to his shop.

Agents said he had prepared 450 forms at fees from $5 to $20 and had written up a total of $75,000 in refunds. Three hundred and fourteen of his clients were interviewed by the Internal Revenue agents.

PLATTEKILL

Plattekill, March 4—The second in a series of card games sponsored by the Plattekill Grange, 923, will be held Monday evening, March 8, in the Grange Hall.

The Plattekill 4-H members received the second demonstration in pie tin baking at the Plattekill school recently. Fourteen members were in attendance and a request was made for the cooperation of parents to allow and encourage the project at home and also to supervise such practices. Preparations were made to participate in the fashion show at the Plattekill school on Tuesday, March 9. It was decided to establish a fund for youths of Germany in order that they may organize 4-H clubs in their sector. The unit also planned camp activities during the Memorial Day holiday vacation. Joan Feldt, Palma DeGregorio and Barbara Green are submitting part of their "Sew a Fine Seam" project for display purposes in New Paltz during National 4-H Week.

Burial was made in the Plattekill cemetery Saturday of Charles Wesley Williamson, 52, of Newburgh, who died Wednesday, February 25, in St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh. Mr. Williamson was a native of Plattekill, the son of Charles and Rebecca Terpenning Williamson, but had resided in Newburgh for 65 years.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 4 (AP)—A few oils and special stocks continued to exhibit a fair amount of strength in today's market while many leaders stumbled.

The principal solace for bullish contingents was that real selling pressure never appeared. Dealings were slow from the start. Fractional declines had a shade the best of the argument near the fourth hour.

Petroleum company earnings inspired some bidding for this group. Accounts again were trimmed mainly because of pessimism over the business outlook, wages, taxes and international confusion. An early sharp plunge in commodities brought scant response from the share division.

Lion Oil touched a high for the year. Atlantic Gulf & West Indies renewed its climb. Ahead most of the time were Standard Oil (N.J.), Texas Co., Gulf Oil, Sinclair Oil, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone & Electric Power & Light and Dow Chemical. United Corp. moved up on a cheering profits statement. Commonwealth & Southern opened unchanged at 2 1/2 on a 12,000-share block.

Laggards included U. S. Steel, General Motors, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, J. I. Case, Boeing, International Telephone, Schenley, Consolidated Natural Gas, Anaconda, International Nickel, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Gypsum (despite a raised dividend), American Woolen, General Motors, Northern Pacific, Illinois Central, Eastern Air Lines and Twentieth Century-Fox.

Domestic bonds were narrow but foreign loans weakened.

Survey conditions. His finding never have been made public. The general said he is under orders from the President not to discuss his report.

Secretary of State Marshall has held that publication of the information might be "actually harmful" to the U. S. and China. The administration's aid program proposes only economic help for China.

Rep. Kee (R-W.Va.) brought out Wedemeyer's view about backing up economic aid with military power.

"Do you think it would be a part of wisdom for the United States at this time to embark on a policy of rendering military aid to the Chinese government?" Kee asked.

Wedemeyer replied that "power vacuums" were created all over the world by the last war, making countries helpless. He said he thinks the experience of history shows "we must protect our policies and interests all over the world."

"I believe," he said, "we should give military aid to all countries and all peoples whose policies and economic structures are compatible with our own and who are striving against totalitarian doctrines."

Wedemeyer said aid should be "carefully scrutinized" to see that money is spent for what it was intended.

"We don't want to make rich Chinese richer," he said, "but the Chinese people are worthy of our help."

Will Sign Declaration

Santiago, Chile, March 4 (AP)—The Foreign Ministry said Chile and Argentina will sign a declaration late today about Antarctica. La Nación of Buenos Aires quoted Pascual La Rosa, who will sign for Argentina, as saying the accord would establish a "joint defense of Chilean and Argentine rights in the South American Antarctic zone." Both nations have laid claim to island areas south of Cape Horn, which Great Britain says are hers.

Labor Leader Faces 60 Years on Red Denial

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Convicted of lying when he denied being a Communist, Milwaukee Labor Leader Harold Christoffel today faces a possible 60-year prison term.

Actual sentencing will be delayed, however, until motions for a new trial are argued early next week.

The six-count perjury indictment on which Christoffel was found guilty by a federal court jury last night grew out of testimony before the House Labor Committee.

Christoffel told the committee on March 1, 1947, that he was not then and never had been a Communist or had Communist connections.

Sixteen witnesses testified during the two and a half week trial that Christoffel, former president of the Allis-Chalmers Local 248 of the C.I.O. United Auto Workers, frequently associated with high Communist party officials.

Long for Ma's Cooking At End of Test Diet

New York, March 4 (AP)—Eleven army enlisted men who voluntarily "shipwrecked" themselves in a hospital to test a new army survival diet are longing for mother's cooking.

Their diet of biscuits and water "taste like steak" when you get hungry enough, one said today.

But another, pounding a biscuit with a flat to soften it a little, said, "we'll have an emergency right here pretty soon."

The 11 began their six-week trial diet Monday. Their biscuits, which look like ordinary tea cookies, contain a special mixture of carbohydrate, fat and protein. The day's allowance, served four times, contains 900 calories. In addition each receives three glasses of water and a vitamin pill daily.

Dies in Plunge

New York, March 4 (AP)—Philip Stack, who contributed poetry to Walter Winchell's syndicated Broadway column under the pseudonym "Don Wahn," was killed today in a 12-story plunge from a mid-Manhattan apartment building. Police, listing the death as apparent suicide, said Stack left a note saying he was "incurably ill." The 60-year-old writer plunged to his death from the studio-office of a greeting card manufacturer, for whom he wrote verse.

Line Drive Kayoes Dyer St. Petersburg, Fla., March 4 (AP)—Eddie Dyer, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, was knocked unconscious today for several minutes by a line drive hit in batting practice. He was felled and remained unconscious for several minutes before being rushed to a hospital.

New Pumper Gets Official Acceptance

The Board of Fire Commissioners have officially accepted the new 500-gallon Sanford pumper which was delivered in this city last week, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said today. He added that he has received notification that the pumper has passed the tests conducted by the Board of Underwriters in Syracuse.

The new pumper was driven to the A. H. Wickes Engine Company fire house Wednesday evening by Captain A. Foster Winfield and Assistant to the Captain C. John Bechtold of the Wickes company. It will be placed in service "within a day or two," Chief Murphy said, as soon as the acceptance papers are filed.

Paintings and Furniture Are Threatened by Fire

New York, March 4 (AP)—Dense black smoke billowed over Manhattan's upper East side residential area today from a persistent fire in a laundry and a warehouse containing $200,000 worth of paintings and furniture.

Many residents of a nearby 17-story apartment house at 54th street and First avenue voluntarily left their apartments because of the thick smoke. No injuries were reported.

Police said the fire was discovered in a laundry at 419 East 54th street and spread rapidly into an adjoining warehouse containing furniture and paintings valued at $200,000.

'Attempted Entry' Proves To Be Only Damaged Door

Police were called early this morning to investigate an "attempted entry" at the Levine Brothers building at 44 Mill street, but after checking with the owner found that everything was all right and no illegal entry had been attempted.

At 1:12 a. m. today a call was received at police headquarters from the night watchman, asking for an investigation. The watchman stated that the door on the Mill street side of the building "looked as though someone tried to get in." Two hinges on the lower part of the door were hanging loose, he said.

Police informed one the Levine brothers, who said the door had been that way for a couple of days, and they were trying to obtain new hinges to replace the old ones. The Levine brothers, Lawrence and Morton, operate the building as a burlap and bag factory.

Roosevelt Began
His White House
Career 15 Years AgoPresident Opened First Term With 'Fear'
Speech to Awake
Confidence

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Fifteen years ago today tradition-smashing Franklin D. Roosevelt started his presidential career by smashing a tradition.

When Chief Justice Hughes read the presidential oath of office, Mr. Roosevelt did not follow with the usual phrase by phrase repetition of the oath. He waited until Mr. Hughes had finished and then repeated the entire 35-word pledge in one unbroken statement.

Few presidents-elect have learned the full text of the oath. Mr. Roosevelt was all set with it, the words rolling out in the resonant tones which marked his public utterances.

Then, in an effort to bolster the spirit of a nation with a bad case of the hard-times jitters, he launched into a confidence-studded inaugural speech.

"So, first of all," he said, "let me assert my firm belief that the only thing we have to fear is fear itself."

Pledging government action on "first things first," he said: "I shall ask the Congress for broad executive power as great as the power that would be given me if we were, in fact, invaded by a foreign foe."

Next day he closed the nation's banks until they could be reopened on a sounder footing. Then he called Congress into special session for emergency action.

Eight days after his inauguration Mr. Roosevelt began the series of fireside radio chats which delighted his friends, exasperated his enemies and impressed multitudes of voters.

"My friends," he sonorously rolled out of loud speakers all over the country. His political showmanship was focusing attention on him as the leader. Not of a party so much, as of a nation.

Spoke of Bank Crisis
The first fireside radio talk was on the bank-closing crisis. He started off:

about banking. I want to tell you what has been done in the last few days and why it was done, and what the next steps are going to be."

In 10 months he made 20 radio talks, a record-setting performance for a Chief Executive.

During his famous "100 days" Congress swiftly ground out legislation, tailored almost completely to his order. He bombarded Congress with messages. Revolutionary economic measures sometimes swept through both Houses in a single day.

To aid an estimated 12,000,000 unemployed, Congress approved a $33,300,000,000 public works program. A fund of $500,000,000 was voted for states which matched federal money in furnishing food and shelter for the needy.

Other billions were voted to help families threatened with the loss of homes and farms by mortgage foreclosures. A crop control program, with bonuses for farmer participants, was aimed at curtailing production and boosting prices for farm products.

The President was authorized to manage the national currency with wide inflationary powers. He took the country off the gold standard.

Congress created the Civilian Conservation Corps, restored 2-cent postage, passed a securities regulation bill to protect investors and modified the Volstead Act to allow the sale of 3.2 per cent beer.

A law to strengthen banks provided guaranty of deposits up to $5,000. The N.R.A., symbolized by the Blue Eagle set up fair competition codes for industry and minimum wages for workers, but those were later outlawed by the Supreme Court, as were parts of the farm program.

The contents of several measures were unknown to many Congressmen. Some editorial observers said the country had never seen such a display of "executive audacity and usurpation."

At the height of the Roosevelt "honeymoon," in the summer of 1933, the press reported that a New York family had named a new baby Franklin Delano Blue Eagle. A Chicago couple named their infant son Franklin Garner, in honor of both the President and vice president.

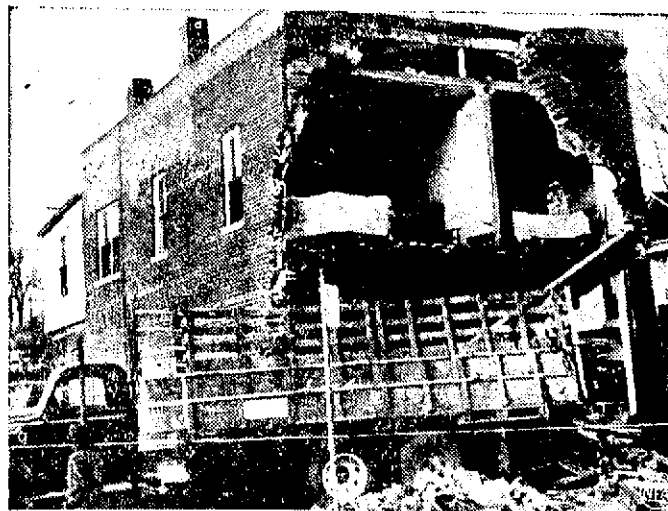

"My friends," he sonorously rolled out of loud speakers all over the country. His political showmanship was focusing attention on him as the leader. Not of a party so much, as of a nation.

Spoke of Bank Crisis
The first fireside radio talk was on the bank-closing crisis. He started off:

Open House at the Gehas

This cattle truck's brakes failed and it crashed into a two-story building in St. Joseph, Mo., ripping the front off the house, exposing two rooms of the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Geha. Fortunately, the Gehas and their two children were at a movie when the accident happened.

New Hurley, March 4.—Saturday afternoon the Young Women's Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Gerow Schoonmaker with Mrs. Charles White as the assistant hostess. Lunch was served and the afternoon was spent in sewing rugs for rugs for the church fair. It was voted to have the club party Tuesday evening, April 12. The April meeting will be at the home of Gertrude Baumann, Forest Road. EAT WELL for Less

PIZZA IS HIT WITH TEEN-AGERS

A dish of Italian pizza is a teen-age favorite.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Staff Writer
When the appetite of teen-agers (and that's a real appetite) prompts them to go looking for "eats," you'll find that a dish of Italian pizza (pronounced peetz-ah) is just the right answer.

You can make it at home, too. The following recipe is authentic, wholesome and rich in protein. Some Italians say, however, pizza should not have any onion in it. Try this on a chilly night for the high school set. Or use it for the main dish for the family meal.

Pizza

(2 pizzas serve 4 to 8 persons)
One package prepared roll mix, 1/2 cup salad oil, 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese, 2 cups drained canned tomatoes, 1/2 pound Cheddar-type cheese, 1 can anchovies (2 ounces), 1/2 teaspoon black pepper, 2 tablespoons grated onion.

Follow directions on package for mixing prepared roll mix. After mixing do not allow dough to rise. Divide dough in half and knead each half into a smooth ball.

Pat out each half of dough and then, holding it in the left hand, stretch gently with right hand and shape into a layer that fits a round heat-resistant glass cake dish. Place shaped dough in two well-greased cake dishes and press up around edges.

Let rise at room temperature about 15 minutes. Brush dough in each cake dish with salad oil. Sprinkle dough with grated cheese. Put one cup tomatoes in each dish.

Cut Cheddar-type cheese in silvers; arrange cheese silvers and anchovies on top of tomatoes. (Thin slices of cold boiled or baked ham may be substituted for anchovies.)

Sprinkle pizzas with black pepper and grated onion. Brush tops with rest of salad oil. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 25 minutes.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Mixed tomato and grapefruit juice, ready-to-eat cereal, soft-cooked eggs, whole wheat toast, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Canned clam chowder, pilot biscuit (large soda crackers), grated canned tuna and chopped pickle sandwiches, hard candies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Italian pizza, Italian bread, large bowl vegetable and mixed green salad, French dressing, compote of fruit, cake, coffee, milk.

Fire Causes Heart Death

Cold Spring, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—One man died of heart attack today during a fire which destroyed the interior of the stone summer home of Benjamin Hamilton Welse, of 333 West 57th street, New York city. The fire broke out early this morning. After Cold Spring firemen had extinguished the blaze they found the body of John Detwiler, 66, caretaker, in the hallway of his own dwelling which adjoins the burned house. Coroner David Calhoun said after an autopsy that Detwiler had died of a heart attack brought on by excitement over the fire.

License Bill Signed

Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—Governor Dewey signed legislation today eliminating one-year licenses for drivers and chauffeurs. The law, effective immediately, provides for the issuance of all licenses on a three-year basis.

Parents Questioned After Child Dies

Raymond Rubart, 39, and his wife Lorraine, 22, (left), are assisted into police station by officers after their two-and-one-half-year-old son, Thomas Victor (right with mother), died in a Chicago hospital. Police Sgt. Andrew Cannon of Chicago said the father related he beat the boy with the buckle end of a belt to break the tot of "wetting his pants." The police officer said that physicians reported the child's body was bruised and that one leg was broken. Cannon said Rubart is being detained without charge. (AP Wirephoto) need a whole new building at least we have a solid beginning." The addition will be constructed in cement block with fireproof roof. The building will be air-conditioned to keep the books moist and as much of the present shelving as possible will be used. The children's section will be in the new wing and will be about three times the present size. Work is expected to be completed by late summer, the architect said, allowing 130 working days. The entire building will be insulated.

Town Clerk Grant Elwyn, representing the town board at the reception, stressed that "All residents of the town are proud of their library and when the new addition is completed they will have reason for greater pride." The board he said is in favor of furthering the aims and desires of those interested in the library. The public fund-raising campaign will begin May 1 and last through May 16, the Rev. Mr. Todd announced. He expected that by that time the snow will be gone and that a cornerstone ceremony will precede the opening of the drive. It will be a house-to-house campaign, he said.

The library authorities, said the Rev. Mr. Todd, do not have space to put out their books and lack room for research work. The additional facilities will broaden their work, he stressed, and continue to emphasize Woodstock as an outstanding library-conscious community.

Has Fund of $8,000

The library at present has $8,000 of the $20,000 required to build the addition. It hopes to achieve the goal of $12,000 in the fund campaign.

The present library building was bought by Mrs. Walter Weyl, widow of Walter Weyl, editor of The New Republic and donated in his memory in 1928. Mrs. Weyl was invited as the guest of honor for the ceremony yesterday, but was unable to attend.

Arrangements for the ceremony and reception were made by Sidney Berkowitz, chairman of publicity for the library board.

Those on the refreshment committee for the reception were: Mrs. Carl Eric Lindin and Miss Elsa Kimball, co-chairmen; Mrs. George Meurer, Miss Anna Gander, Mrs. Ethel Moncreuf, Mrs. Julia Leavercraft, Mrs. Gertrude Robinson, Mrs. Jean Rosen and Mrs. Sidney Berkowitz.

Pennsylvania Goes

fourteen-inch guns, 16 five-inchers and many smaller weapons. This is how the Pennsylvania ended her days:

Sixteen sailors manned her on the last run. (In her glory days, the Pennsylvania carried 130 officers and 2,300 enlisted men.) She rode ignominiously at the end of a tow hawser, her once powerful engines silent. At the designated spot, the crew opened the sea cocks, removed the condenser plates, scrambled to the deck and boarded a tug.

Her stern dropped beneath the waves, but for two and a half hours the Pennsylvania resisted her fate while navy planes circled overhead. Then she slipped to her grave.

Russia Returns Two More Lend Lease Ships

Yokohama, March 4 (AP)—Two more lend-lease tankers have been returned to the United States by Russia, at a time of critical world shortage of such vessels.

The tankers are the former Swanece Rail and the Paul Dunbar. They were brought to Yokohama by Russian crews. American crews will be flown here to sail the ships to the Persian Gulf for oil to relieve the shortage along the U. S. east coast.

The first lend-lease ship to be returned by the Russians was delivered to an American crew last week in Hong Kong.

Four other tankers are to be brought here, and a fifth is slated for delivery at Trieste.

Farm people of the United States had a total buying power of $44,800,000,000 in 1945, according to a federal survey.

Will Review Parade

New York, March 4 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will review the city's annual St. Patrick's Day parade March 17 from the official reviewing stand at 64th street and Fifth avenue. Francis Cardinal Spellman and other members of the Catholic hierarchy will view the procession from St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Dorothy Maynor, Famous Soprano, Presents Concert

Dorothy Maynor, probably the most outstanding Negro soprano of the nation, sang for the audience of the Kingston Community Concert Association Wednesday night in the Kingston High School Auditorium. She sang with technical skill and chose a program of recital songs, many familiar to voice students.

Her singing of the traditional spiritual "Were You There?" as the final encore to her concert was one of the most fitting and appropriate conclusions. She asked the audience not to applaud and sang entirely unaccompanied through the moving phrases of the Crucifixion story. The auditorium was completely silent.

Her voice has a natural wide range and she showed remarkable control in the pianissimo passages as well as forte expressions.

The first numbers were by Handel and the second group by Wolf. However, it was in the Strauss numbers that her voice began to show its reported gloriousness and by the aria, Il est doux, il est bon, from Moscheles' "Hercules", she held the audience. This was followed by the first encore, Schubert's "Ave Maria."

Again in the Dvorak numbers her voice was beautiful. As an encore she sang the familiar songs "My Mother Taught Me" by the same composer.

Her group of spirituals were varied and showed the interesting syncopated rhythms. Three were arranged by Alice de Ceven, "O Yes O Yes," "Don't Be Wary Traveler," and "Rock O' My Soul." As an encore to the group she chose "What Kind of Shoes" arranged by Wolff.

Responding to the audience's applause she sang three encores, "Problem Child," "Heilner," "Oh, No John," English air, and the "Were You There?" spiritual.

Ludwig Bergmann was accompanist at the piano blending the background of music to Miss Maynor's voice.

Funds Needed for Girl Scout Program, Camp Wendy Plans

"There is always a person on call who knows the answers or where to find them," stated Mrs. Casper Souers, president of the Kingston District Leaders' Association of the Ulster County Girl Scout Council, when asked what she felt the greatest contribution of the executive. "We rely on her good judgment and knowledge of the Scout program to help us solve our troop problems."

The Ulster County Girl Scout Council is conducting a financial campaign March 15-31 to raise the necessary $12,000 to meet expenses for the over-all Girl Scout program and the setting-up of Camp Wendy for the coming season.

Until October 1946, the county had never employed a full-time professional worker. Then it was that Miss Hazel Metcalf was appointed executive director and the county office was set up in the large, sunny corner room on the second floor of 43 Crown street, Kingston.

The first problem to confront the new executive dealt with the organization and registration of troops. The annual reports record 41 troops January 1, 1946, 50 troops January 1, 1947 and 62 troops January 1, 1948. "This increase in numbers is gratifying to the Council but there is the concurrent problem in keeping the programs of troops up to the high Girl Scout standards," this said Mrs. Souers, "necessitates training."

(Mrs. Souers is the one nationally qualified volunteer trainer in Ulster county at the present time.) Courses were given for new leaders, special program training on various age levels, outdoors and camp training.

Well over 200 enrollments were made by various adult scouts in these courses, especially leaders and assistant leaders. In addition, 42 troop committee members studied their jobs in a two-hour session. Conferences and group discussion meetings where Council and Council Committee members participated where policies were interpreted by the executive. These courses have been planned and presented by the Training Committee of which Mrs. Donald Downs of Kerhonkson is chairman, the Volunteer Trainer and Miss Metcalf.

New Paltz College Speaker Friday Night

R. H. MARKHAM

R. H. Markham, foreign correspondent and writer, has been invited by the students of New Paltz State Teachers College to talk on the subject "Communist Totalitarianism in the Realm of Thought." The address is to be given in the College Auditorium on Friday, March 5 at 8:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend. Admission is free.

Mr. Markham is well qualified to talk on so vital a subject through his long experience of life and thought in southeastern Europe. His forthright articles written for the internationally known "Christian Science Monitor" of Boston earned him severe censure from the Kremlin's puppets in Romania and resulted in his expulsion from all those parts of Europe behind the Iron Curtain. No enemy of the working people, he has persistently spoken out when their inherent rights were abused by Fascists and Communists alike. As deputy director of the Office of War Information in the Mediterranean area, he became acquainted not only with war events in the Balkan countries but also with the official U. S. policy toward those countries.

As at this moment the whole world is making a choice between Communist "Democracy" and democracy as we try to practice it in this country, it is felt that Mr. Markham's talk will shed much light on the problems facing us and that through some of his suggestions we will be able to clarify much of our thinking.

Hold Second Annual Concert of Jewish Music on Sunday

In observance of National Jewish Music Month, Abavath Israel Sisterhood will present its second annual concert of Jewish music at its synagogue, 72 Wurts street, on Sunday evening, March 7 at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Frank D. Plotke, chairman, announced today.

Similar concerts are sponsored all over the country by the National Jewish Welfare Board for the promotion of Jewish music.

Encouraged by the fine response of last year's concert, the first of its kind in Kingston, Abavath Israel Sisterhood prepared this year another program of vocal and instrumental music. The program includes organ music played by Thomas W. Crosby, well-known organist, a group of Hebrew songs of present-day Palestine, sung by Mesdames Harry Brooks, Max Cherrick and Rebecca Wachtel. Three songs of the "Old World" in the Yiddish language by Mrs. Harry Brooks and Larry Jacobs and Benjamin Schechter.

Also included in the first part of the program is a composition by Ernest Bloch, entitled "Niggin (Improvisation)" played by Mrs. Nathan L. Kevess (violin) and Mrs. Henry Singer (piano).

The second part is highlighted by the first presentation here of Judith and Ira Eisenstein's newest cantata, "The Seven Golden Buttons," a "Legend with Music" based on a story from Jewish folk lore.

The entire community is invited to attend the concert.

The public is invited. There will be dancing and refreshments after the show.

Warm Water Best

Warm water will remove grit more quickly than cold when washing spinach and other greens. After you remove the roots, heavy stems and undesirable leaves, the greens should be washed in a number of waters. Washing should continue until no grit is present and the leaves should be lifted from one water to another so that sand or grit can settle at the bottom of the pans and be thrown away.

New York, March 4 (AP)—A two-day truce, which deferred threat of strike action against the New York Stock and Curb Exchanges, ended today with no break in the deadlock between the exchanges and their A.F.L. union employees. A mediation meeting between Stock Exchange officials and representatives of the union, Local 205, United Financial Employees, broke up last night without settlement of the dispute. A union spokesman said a walkout might be called "at any time."

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

DISCOURTEOUS HOSTESS

The following letter brings up a question worth discussing: "Late-ly I was at the house of a friend whose telephone rang, literally, the entire half hour I was there. I realize my friend couldn't help this but all of her conversations went on and on, while I sat silent. Isn't there some rule to cover this situation? Couldn't she, for instance, have asked the person calling to call back later or would this have been rude to the person on the telephone?"

If the telephone message was of real importance, she would have had to listen. But if the calls were from intimate friends who call often, she should have answered as briefly as possible and, if necessary, have added that she was busy with a visitor and please to call her back later or else should have offered to call them back.

Return Address

Dear Mrs. Post: Our daughter tells me that you claim it is incorrect to put a return address on the envelope of invitations, greeting cards and personal letters. Since it seems to me that a return address helps the post office, I am wondering why it is incorrect.

Answer: A very old rule of etiquette forbade the putting of a return address on formal invitations or their replies. At present, however, especially since the post office requires return addresses on the face of all envelopes when we wish to have a letter to an un-found person returned, the usual taboo is lifted now.

Friendliness of First Importance
Dear Mrs. Post: My husband is accepting a post in another town. When we arrive at the new school, am I supposed to call on the superintendent's wife or wait for her to come to see us?

Answer: The superintendent's wife should come to see you, but if several weeks pass and she fails to do this, it would be tactful on your part to make the first move (either to see her or invite her to come to see you) rather than let a situation of unfriendliness develop.

Acknowledging Telegrams

Dear Mrs. Post: Does a telegram of congratulations sent to a bride and groom on their wedding day require an acknowledgment? Answer: Ordinarily, no, unless coming from a long distance or at least from one whom they are unlikely to be able to thank verbally.

Model letters of various kinds are given in Mrs. Post's booklet, No. 502, "The Etiquette of Letter Writing." To obtain a copy send 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to Mrs. C/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Union of Europe

A Washington news conference the United States wants any Western European union to be strictly European. He said the U. S. would not take part in the Brussels meeting.

Lord Vanfittart, chief diplomatic adviser to the Chamberlain government from 1938 to 1941, said in the House of Lords last night Britain should form "the closest union with the United States."

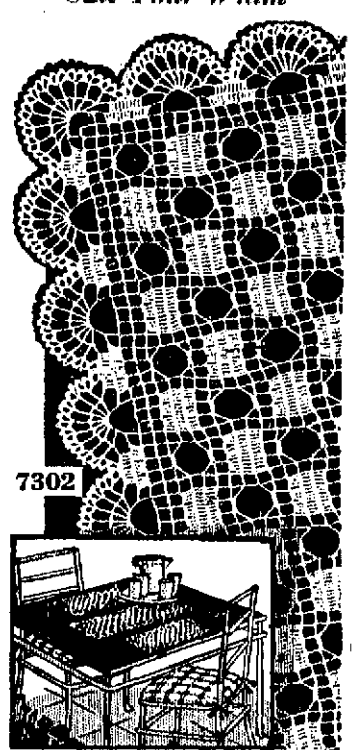

"What Stalin has done recently in Czechoslovakia," he said, "showed clearly that he would run the risk of a European war as recklessly as Hitler, were it not for the restraining factor of American strength."

Have 50-Year Pact

Britain and France already have a 50-year military alliance under the Dunkerque pact of March, 1947. The "low" countries are joined in the Benelux Customs Union, instituted last January 1. Bevin did not propose a military union specifically in his speech. But a spokesman for the British foreign office said he had in mind an alliance along the lines of the Dunkerque treaty.

The foreign secretary said action was needed because the Russians were trying by "every means in their power to get Communist control of eastern Europe and, as it now appears, in the west as well."

Disclosing that invitations had gone out for five-nation treaty talks, he said Italy and other "historic European countries" would be invited into any union that might result.

Spaak said in Parliament yesterday "a political treaty should be bound up with a military agreement between (SIC) the five powers because it is impossible to defend this country without outside help."

He called for economic collaboration, too, and said: "We want to organize ourselves and we will." Loud cheers came from all deputies except the Communists.

"If United States aid to Europe, through the Marshall Plan, does not arrive in the coming months—in the coming weeks," said Spaak, "Europe will return to the worst economic conditions of the worst year of the second World War."

The Marshall Plan for European recovery now is before the United States Senate. The 16 European countries taking part are to start their second conference in Paris March 15.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK

Allen Pleads for Racial Understanding in K.A.A. Talk

Yankee Broadcaster, Al Cirillo Top Hot Stove League Dinner

More than 250 persons heard Mel Allen, radio voice of the New York Yankees, make a strong plea for racial understanding through sports at the Kingston Athletic Association's third annual Hot Stove League dinner last night at The Barn.

Sharing the spotlight with the famous sportscaster was Al Cirillo, popular bowling comedian, who kept the show moving at a lively pace with rapid fire gags.

Kingston Athletic Association officials said it was the finest affair of its kind ever staged by the local sports organization with the exception of the Frank Leahy dinner which was on a more serious note.

Allen, the magic voice of sports, regaled his large audience for more than a half hour with baseball stories, inside observations on the game and a revealing insight on little known characteristics of famous Yankee players.

Pointing out that World War 2 apparently had not yet achieved the principles for which it was fought, Allen said sports, particularly baseball was the greatest single medium to foster racial understanding, the spirit of brotherhood, fair play and competition so necessary in every day life.

Other speakers were Alderman-at-Large Charles J. Turck, who represented the City of Kingston in the absence of Mayor Oscar Newkirk; Bill Lehman, former New York Giant hurler and Clarence Rowland, chairman of the K.A.A.'s Project Committee.

The entertainment included songs by Lee Barnett, Mrs. Jessie Wollerstein, and Cassi Cassano, Barn entertainer and piano accordion selections by Clementine Nessel.

Toastmaster Cirillo carried the show with a never ending stream of gags, takeoffs and biting humor and was in rare form. He worked for nearly three hours without interruption and left Kingston with his reputation as an emcee solidly established with the K.A.A. audience.

Louis DiMaggio Allen devoted a major part of his speech to the New York Yankees and unqualifiedly rated DiMaggio as "the greatest all round ball player in the game today." He declared that DiMaggio has never cashed in on the real popularity he deserved because of his stone-faced qualities on the field.

Inside the dressing room, however, Allen said, "DiMaggio is the heart of the Yankee ball club and more than anybody else deserves credit for the Yankee success of 1947." Allen revealed that Manager Bucky Harris, and other Yankee officials gave the Yankee

Maroons Set for DUSO Loop Finale Here Friday Night

Clippers full credit for inspiring the younger Yankees during the crucial stages of the pennant race.

Allen said he thought Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox is the greatest hitter in baseball but on all-round merits, DiMaggio was the top player of the day. The dulcet-toned Alabamian also unloaded a flock of choice stories about Bobo Newsum, Lefty Gomez and other famed baseball characters.

Alderman-at-Large Charles J. Turck praised the K.A.A.'s $1,500 baseball setup as an important step to assist Recreation Department activities. He said the city was glad to cooperate with the K.A.A. in the promotion of the program.

Kingston must have baseball of one kind or another, Mr. Turck said, urging that members of the K.A.A. and fans in general support the proposed semi-pro ball club which the city will operate this summer.

Clarence Rowland, chairman of the Project Committee, explained briefly the proposed junior baseball program and indicated that the four instructors to be hired by K.A.A. for baseball supervisors would be former K.H.S. students now studying for physical education degrees.

President Charles J. Tanno of the K.A.A. extended the greetings of the organization to the large crowd and pointed out that such famous sports personalities as Frankie Frisch, Jimmy Ponder, Frankie Leahy and Mel Allen had been before the group during the past year. He pointed to the junior baseball program as a positive sign of the growth of the K.A.A. and said it had become an important part of the sports setup of the community.

Several local sports personalities and baseball figures of the past and present were introduced by Toastmaster Cirillo, among them Coaches G. Warren Kias and Bill Burke of K.H.S.; Bobby Cayle, Jimmy Morgan, Fred Davi, Warren Smith, Addison Jones, Bud Callahan, County Judge John M. Cashin, Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schrick, George Cragan, John Prunial, and many others.

At the speakers table were past presidents of the organization, Dr. Francis O'Connor and Thomas M. Tomney Davitt; Bob Stone, managing editor of the Evening Leader and co-chairman with Dick McCarthy, WKNY sportscaster; and Palmer Brodhead, secretary; Louis G. Bruhn, vice president and Sam Moss, treasurer of the K.A.A.

New York (Jamaica Arena)—Cecilio Bronco, 147, Fall River, Mass., outpointed Lulu Constantino, 140½, New York, 8.

In The Pocket with CHARLIE TIANO

• Bagatelles:

From the bowling front we hear that Laura Dagnault is preparing a searing indictment of the lack of "open" alleys for Kingston bowlers. . . . Madame Dagnault has a point, to be sure, but there are visible indications of relief in the not too distant future. . . . Ad Jones reveals that after the demise of the Stamford Bombers franchise in the Colonial League, Johnny Gentile, ex-Kingston Recreation manager and his syndicate were willing to invest $6,000 in a Kingston proposition. . . . However, the offer came too late. . . . Mayor Newkirk's selections for the Recreation Baseball Committee were outstanding. . . . These gentlemen have a chore to perform and we think they will do a good job. . . . In effect, they have to do a good job. . . . If the semi-pro setup is a floperoo, then baseball is finished for a long time in this town.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

A question thrown at us frequently is: "Can Kingston support two modern bowling establishments?" The answer is "No," at least not in the manner to which modern bowling emporiums are accustomed. . . . Two large layouts in Kingston will create two separate factions such as existed in the days of the Emerick-Central Rec feud. . . . It was silly stuff but it was there and will return again. . . . Such are the things that make a "small town." . . . If Ad Jones would kindly turn over an amount equal to his telephone bill during the Class B negotiations, we could walk out of a smart Fifth Avenue men's shop with a custom-tailored suit. . . . Joe Hoffman, the former Recreation manager and one of Kingston's top baseball personalities for two decades, was to head a syndicate for the private promotion of semi-pro baseball. . . . Hoffman's group had the money and the baseball brains but tactfully refrained from announcing plans until: 1. the Class B situation was resolved; 2. until the City of Kingston had shown its hand on semi-pro baseball. . . . That news should be interesting to some folks, just as a matter of record.

• Of Men and Mice:

J. C. (not C. J.) Harrison, the Middletown scribe who does a terrific job with scholastic basketball, was talking about the punctuality of various high school coaches in reporting basketball scores. "In the DUSO League," Harrison said, "the top coaches were John Mihalic, Kingston Jayvee mentor under G. Warren Kias and Jack George of Liberty. We told one coach that and he replied that if he had a team in Kingston, he'd be the first to call, too. . . . The gentleman obviously inferred that everybody is quick to report a victory and Kingston has bagged its share to date. . . . However, just for the records, Coaches G. Warren Kias and Bill Burke have never lopped on a promise to phone in a boxscore, win, lose or draw. . . . Art Brew, of Kingston, is lost to the Albany Business College basketball team for the last four games because of a sprained ankle. . . . Newt Culver and Eddie McCardie will give Kingston track headlines in the near future. . . .

ASIDE TO GEORGE M. CRAGAN: Kingston High wallpopped Nyack, 59-41 in the Section 9 playoffs at NEWBURGH last year.

• With the Strong Fearless Men:

Hunting license sales in the United States for the year ending June 30, 1947, soared to $12,000,703, an increase of $2,212,450 over the record-breaking number sold in 1946, the Wildlife Management Institute reports. . . . This number represents a gross income to the states, from the sale of hunting licenses, big-game permits, special area permits and deer tags, of $28,558,447. . . . Shortened work week, good wages, good roads, airports scattered all over the country, new high-powered guns—all of these factors have combined to provide the income for more Americans than ever before to seek their relaxation in hunting trips, the institute says. . . . Maintaining a supply of game birds and animals to meet this heavy drain is the chief problem that confronts the country's wildlife administrators today. . . . Michigan continued to lead in the number of licenses sold with a total of 1,046,889. Italian Riders Hold Slim Lead in Six-Day Bike Race

New York, March 4 (AP)—The international six-day bicycle race has passed the halfway mark with the Italian wheelers, Alvaro Gorgeggi and Angelo Debaeco, hanging on tenaciously to their one-lead.

At the 77th hour—with 1,209 miles traveled—the Italian team was pressed by the Canadian-French combination of Rene Cyr-

Ferdinand Grillo and the French-Greek team of Emile Ignat-Henri Surbats—one lap behind.

Coley Wallace Defeats Teague; Thompson Is Golden Gloves Winner

Madison Square Garden got the "dream" amateur heavyweight match featuring Coley Wallace and Terry Teague, the bout which was originally scheduled for the Kingston Municipal Auditorium during February, but according to the Associated Press the search for "the new Joe Louis" still continues after last night's Eastern Golden Glove finals in New York.

Wallace, previously hailed as the "new Louis," scrambled through to victory without any show of devastating punching power in his win over Teague in the Garden, the AP said. The sell-out crowd of 17,926 noted only a slight facial resemblance between New York's Wallace, the newly-crowned heavyweight king, and Louis, the report said.

Thompson Is Winner

John "Spider" Thompson, of Buffalo, another local favorite on the B'nai B'rith cards in the municipal auditorium, defeated Eddie Marsh of Pittsburgh to win the 125-pound championship without too much trouble.

Only one knockout was produced in the 24 semi-final and final amateur bouts during the New York Tournament of Champions.

The Associated Press reported today that only Johnny Saxton of New York's Salem Crescent A.C. was able to dump his man for keeps. The victim was Luis Ortiz of Puerto Rico in a 135-pound semi-final that stole the show last night. Saxton later clinched the title by outpointing Bob Rosen-yielded second place to the two visitors.

Many observers thought the best prospect on the card was Leland Pallen, a stiff-punching paratrooper from Ft. Bragg, Pallen, a welter whose home town is Flint, Mich., represented Charlotte. In the earlier rounds he proved he could get up off the floor to win when he outpointed New York's Everick Agard. After a semi-final edge over Washington's Leo Daughtry, he clinched the title by beating 16-year-old Bill Neice of Hempstead, N. Y.

Pittsburgh copped the team title with 15 points to 14 for New York, but the winners had only one champ. He was Middleweight Floyd Morris. Three others were beaten in the finals.

Charlotte, with Flyweight Champ Henry Gault and Pallen, tied Puerto Rico for third place. Heavyweight — Coley Wallace, However, New York as host team New York.

New York, March 4 (AP)—Harry Walker admits there aren't many dollars between him and another year with the Philadelphia Phils. But for the present the 1947 National League batting king is staying at his Leeds, Ala., home, looking after his hardware business and building a couple houses. "They understand what I want," said the outfielder, "and any move is up to them."

Sarasota, Fla., March 4 (AP)—Johnny Ostrowski, up from Los Angeles, is making a bid for the third base job with the Boston Red Sox. He's had the hot corner much to himself the first two days of practice and has shown a advantage. Ostrowski is 28 and hit .292 in 173 games in the Coast League last season. His chief competition probably will come from Johnny Pesky or Vern Stephens, depending on which of them is picked for shortstop.

Bradenton, Fla., March 4 (AP)—The Boston Braves could have six 20-game winners this year if the "ifs" among the pitching staff all come through. Johnny Beazley, Bill Voiselle, Johnny Sain, Warren Spahn, Ernie White and Charles Barrett are all 20-game winners of other seasons. The "ifs" are these: Beazley, Voiselle and White must recover from operations; Spahn and Sain must come to terms. Spahn and Sain were the only ones to win 20 or more in 1947.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 4 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals holdout situation appeared almost at an end today. Harry Brecheen is enroute to talk terms and Stan Musial has a meeting scheduled today with club President Bob Hannegan. Rookie Pitcher Ray Yochim, the only other Redbird not signed.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 4 (AP)—Manager Bucky Harris of the New York Yankees is figuring on Yogi Berra as his No. 1 catcher this year in spite of the rookie's miserable showing in the World Series. "Berra got a number of bad breaks in that series," Harris said as he outlined a campaign to teach his pitchers to learn to hold runners on the base. Working with the pitchers is Bureleigh Grimes. Other catchers on the roster include Gus Niarhos, up from Kansas City, and Ralph Houk, Sherman Lollar, Charlie Silvera and Henry Foiles.

Lip Laidie Bookies
Clint Trujillo, Dominican Republic, March 4 (AP)—The new men in the Brooklyn Dodger camp "are the best young rookies I've ever had," says Manager Leo Durocher. He took in the whole lot and declared that every one was a good ball player. "This could very easily be the best team we've ever had," declared Leo. He was particularly high on Preston Ward, a 20-year-old first baseman, whom he said: "All I know is what I see and I do know he can hit a ball 11 miles. He can run like a gazelle and has a great arm."

Phoenix, Ariz., March 4 (AP)—The New York Giants still are missing Buddy Kerr and Ken Trinkle and haven't heard from the two recently. Manager Mel Ott said Shortstop Kerr wasn't considered a serious holdout, but it was obvious he could be used here. Trinkle is still unsigned in Indiana.

Oakland, Calif., Earl Turner, 151, Richmond, Calif., outpointed Bobby Mann, 149, Trenton, N. J., 10.

Adams Says N.H.L. Probe on Betting Is 'Mass Torture'

Detroit, March 4 (AP)—The National Hockey League today continued a probe of reported betting involving league players as Boston Bruins President Weston Adams termed it involuntary "mass torture."

Adams, who conferred at Lansing Tuesday with League President Clarence Campbell and Detroit and Michigan officials, held a special meeting with newspapermen last night prior to the Bruins' game in Boston.

He urged them not to go into the Boston players' dressing room saying, "These boys are under a terrible strain and are not in any condition to answer questions. Until some announcement of action is made, the strain will continue."

Adams continued: "The delay in any announcement by President Clarence Campbell cannot be helped. It is one of the cruellest forms of mass torture ever inflicted on any team in any sport."

Adams emphasized that he knew "nothing more now than when I went to Michigan" when the league took note of the rumored betting scandal. He termed President Campbell "fair and impartial" and pointed out that every detail of the case "must be checked to the last T and dot over the T."

Twenty Grand, '31 Derby Winner, Dies

Lexington, Ky., March 4 (AP)

"Twenty Grand, speedy bay colt whose racing triumphs included the 1931 Kentucky Derby, is dead.

The son of imported St. Germain-Bonus died yesterday at nearby Greentree Farm. Death was caused by a twisted intestine. He was buried near the grave of his dam.

"Twenty Grand's winning time of 2:01 4/5 in the 1931 Derby stood for ten years, and remains as the second best on record for the mile and one-quarter racing classic.

The great Whirlaway shaved 2/5 of a second from Twenty Grand's Derby record in 1941. Both packed 126 pounds.

Twenty Grand was in the money 20 times. Earning $261,790. His record included 14 victories, four seconds and two thirds.

He was owned by the late Mrs. Payne Whitney, and passed to her children, John Hay (Jack) Whitney and Mrs. Charles Payson at her death. They own Greentree.

Players deeply enthusiastic about the thrill of tournament play have been known to drop out of it, but eventually most come back. Back in 1937 and 1938 Dr. R. H. Ecker Jr. of New York seldom missed a tournament. In 1938 he won the masters' individual championship. Then he dropped out, but now is back again.

A few hours after Dr. Ecker won the masters' individual he gave me this hand, on which he made six spades, with the player on the left holding four trumps to the queen jack.

He won the opening lead of the deuce of hearts with dummy's ace and led the three of spades. It was disappointing to say the least when East discarded the deuce of diamonds, but Dr. Ecker was playing for the world's championship and he could not quit. He went up with the ace of spades.

He knew West had four spades, and the opening lead of the heart heuce practically marked him with four hearts. Discard of the deuce of diamonds by East might indicate a long diamond suit.

Doc's next play was the ten of diamonds to dummy's jack, then he trumped the three of hearts with the deuce of spades. The jack of clubs was overtaken with dummy's ace and the six of hearts trumped with the five of spades.

His next play was the queen of diamonds won the trick and the eight of hearts was trumped with the nine of spades. Declarer then cashed the king and queen of clubs, and when West followed, Dr. Ecker knew he now held only the queen-jack-seven of trumps.

At trick eleven he led the ace of diamonds. Dummy had the eight-four of spades and ten of hearts. If West trumped with the seven of spades, dummy would overtrump with the eight. West trumped with the jack and declarer then drew away the ten of hearts from dummy. Now West was forced to lead from his queen-seven of spades into Doc's king-ten. Only one trump trick was lost.

Can't Fix Her Diet

San Jose, Calif., March 4 (UP)—Vegetable packer Sam Leduc told the divorce court it would be impossible to pay his wife $140 a month alimony.

But let her take it out in vegetables. Her attorney argued that would put Leduc in the position of dictating her diet—broccoli today, beans tomorrow, and the like. "My client needs money, not rutabagas," said the attorney, Judge Leonard R. Avila agreed. He ordered Leduc to pay $110 a month in cash pending the divorce action.

Told Not to Sign
New York, March 4 (AP)—Delegates to convention of C.I.O. United Office and Professional Workers voted overwhelmingly yesterday to instruct officers of the union not to sign non-Communist affidavits required under the Taft-Hartley law. The vote was 720 to 68. Under the act, the affidavits are required of a union before it can utilize facilities of the National Relations Board. The union claims a membership of 70,000.

Bills Proposed in Legislature

Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—The joint legislative committee on problems of the aging recommended today that New York pioneer in a state campaign to encourage employment of elderly persons.

The committee, in a report to the Legislature, urged a "modest appropriation" to finance a long-range research and educational program through "an office of older workers in industry" in the state Labor Department.

Republican Senator Thomas C. Desmond of Newburgh, chairman, said the program would be designed "to expand the employment opportunities of the elderly and break down illogical discriminatory age barriers."

In other developments:

1. The Senate Codes Committee killed a bill to tighten the Sullivan Law which makes it a felony to carry a concealed weapon without a license.
2. The Assembly passed, and sent to the Senate, a bill to prohibit suspension of motor vehicle and drivers' license without a hearing in accidents involving damage under $50.
3. The Senate gave final legislative approval to a bill to permit women employees of restaurants to work after midnight.

Desmond said State Labor Commissioner Edward L. Cora agreed with the committee's recommendations for "what is believed to be the first campaign undertaken by any state to encourage the employment of the elderly."

The committee, describing its studies as "a human reclamation project," also reported wide-scale

Players deeply enthusiastic about the thrill of tournament play have been known to drop out of it, but eventually most come back. Back in 1937 and 1938 Dr. R. H. Ecker Jr. of New York seldom missed a tournament. In 1938 he won the masters' individual championship. Then he dropped out, but now is back again.

A few hours after Dr. Ecker won the masters' individual he gave me this hand, on which he made six spades, with the player on the left holding four trumps to the queen jack.

He won the opening lead of the deuce of hearts with dummy's ace and led the three of spades. It was disappointing to say the least when East discarded the deuce of diamonds, but Dr. Ecker was playing for the world's championship and he could not quit. He went up with the ace of spades.

He knew West had four spades, and the opening lead of the heart heuce practically marked him with four hearts. Discard of the deuce of diamonds by East might indicate a long diamond suit.

Doc's next play was the ten of diamonds to dummy's jack, then he trumped the three of hearts with the deuce of spades. The jack of clubs was overtaken with dummy's ace and the six of hearts trumped with the five of spades.

His next play was the queen of diamonds won the trick and the eight of hearts was trumped with the nine of spades. Declarer then cashed the king and queen of clubs, and when West followed, Dr. Ecker knew he now held only the queen-jack-seven of trumps.

At trick eleven he led the ace of diamonds. Dummy had the eight-four of spades and ten of hearts. If West trumped with the seven of spades, dummy would overtrump with the eight. West trumped with the jack and declarer then drew away the ten of hearts from dummy. Now West was forced to lead from his queen-seven of spades into Doc's king-ten. Only one trump trick was lost.

Can't Fix Her Diet
San Jose, Calif., March 4 (UP)—Vegetable packer Sam Leduc told the divorce court it would be impossible to pay his wife $140 a month alimony.

But let her take it out in vegetables. Her attorney argued that would put Leduc in the position of dictating her diet—broccoli today, beans tomorrow, and the like. "My client needs money, not rutabagas," said the attorney, Judge Leonard R. Avila agreed. He ordered Leduc to pay $110 a month in cash pending the divorce action.

Told Not to Sign
New York, March 4 (AP)—Delegates to convention of C.I.O. United Office and Professional Workers voted overwhelmingly yesterday to instruct officers of the union not to sign non-Communist affidavits required under the Taft-Hartley law. The vote was 720 to 68. Under the act, the affidavits are required of a union before it can utilize facilities of the National Relations Board. The union claims a membership of 70,000.

Bills Proposed in Legislature
Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—The joint legislative committee on problems of the aging recommended today that New York pioneer in a state campaign to encourage employment of elderly persons.

The committee, in a report to the Legislature, urged a "modest appropriation" to finance a long-range research and educational program through "an office of older workers in industry" in the state Labor Department.

Republican Senator Thomas C. Desmond of Newburgh, chairman, said the program would be designed "to expand the employment opportunities of the elderly and break down illogical discriminatory age barriers."

In other developments:

1. The Senate Codes Committee killed a bill to tighten the Sullivan Law which makes it a felony to carry a concealed weapon without a license.
2. The Assembly passed, and sent to the Senate, a bill to prohibit suspension of motor vehicle and drivers' license without a hearing in accidents involving damage under $50.
3. The Senate gave final legislative approval to a bill to permit women employees of restaurants to work after midnight.

Desmond said State Labor Commissioner Edward L. Cora agreed with the committee's recommendations for "what is believed to be the first campaign undertaken by any state to encourage the employment of the elderly."

The committee, describing its studies as "a human reclamation project," also reported wide-scale

Finns' Decision on Red Proposal Is Held Up

Helsinki, Finland, March 4 (AP)—High officials said today they foresee little chance of a decision before tomorrow on whether Finland will negotiate with Russia.

Prime Minister Stalin proposed negotiations toward a Finnish-Soviet treaty of friendship and mutual assistance in a letter to Finland's President Juho Paasikivi February 22. Paasikivi is still awaiting the views of parliamentary blocs toward the pact. He was disclosed last night to have replied to Stalin that the proposal would be taken up through internal Finnish parliamentary and democratic procedures.

Of the six parliamentary groups, only the Popular-Front combination of Communists and Radical Socialists have answered the president. They urged immediate negotiations and acceptance of the pact as a "question of life" for Finns.

The blocs were scheduled to have secret meetings throughout most of the afternoon. By night, informed Finns expect, Paasikivi would have a clear picture of what these groups think.
